Johnson Asks New Program For Housing

'Decent Home For All Yanks' Is Chief's Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson extended a helping hand today to fast-growing suburban communities swamped by demands for "new classrooms, uncounted miles of new streets and utility lines, and an unprecedented volume of water and sewerage facilities."

He asked Congress to provide federal grants and loans to local governments and private developers so future expansion won't be carried out, as it often has in the past, "in a sprawling, space-consuming, unplanned and uneconomic way."

This was the major new proposal in the President's message to Congress on housing and community development, but he also had a few new wrinkles in the older, established programs such as public housing and urban renewal.

These variations included plans to buy and rent existing housing for public housing purposes and new aid for those ousted by urban renewal projects.

Johnson outlined to Congress a comprehensive program to achieve the goal he set shortly after taking office last fall: "A decent home for all Americans."

He called for expanded public housing and urban renewal, and new programs to help provide homes for farmers and migratory farm workers.

In the first major housing legislative proposal since 1961, Johnson renewed some old demands of the late President John F. Kennedy.

He called for creation of a Cabinet-level Department of Housing and Community Development and urged Congress to act swiftly on a mass transit bill, already passed by the Senate and awaiting House action.

Johnson promised Negroes that his administration "will continue and strengthen its efforts to translate the pledge" made by Kennedy in his 1962 order against discrimination in housing.

OSU's Lab Gets Signal From Echo

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University's Antenna Laboratory was among the first to receive radio signals via the new Echo II communications satellite.

The signals were picked up at 4:59 a.m. Sunday by engineers at the laboratory.

The signals were beamed from a U.S. Air Force transmitter to the satellite and then reflected by it to Ohio State's "saucer field," an array of four 30-foot parabolic reflectors located at the laboratory's field station.

Transmitters beaming signals at the 135-foot metallic balloon are located at Rome, N.Y., Trinidad, British West Indies, and at Ohio University at Athens.

The signals are amplified and recorded on magnetic tape for later analysis of the fidelity of reception. The Ohio State experiment with the satellite is expected to produce vital information on interplanetary and intercontinental communication techniques.

The British Royal Marine Commandos were forced to put down mutinies by native troops in three former East African British colonies — Tanganyika, Kenya and Uganda — after a bizarre chain reaction against low pay and white British officers. Three Tanganyika soldiers were killed in the mutiny and one soldier in Kenya, while there were no British casualties.

East Africa Hit By New Unrest

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—British troops kept peace in restive East Africa today after disarming mutinous native soldiers in the young commonwealth nations of Kenya, Tanganyika and Uganda.

British and African officers questioned the rebellious troops in the three neighboring countries, trying to find out if there was a master plan behind the upheavals. All erupted last week in the wake of the Communist-tinged coup that toppled the sultan of Zanzibar.

A spokesman at the British East Africa command post in Nairobi said no evidence has been found to indicate the mutinies were part of an over-all rebellion, but investigations were continuing.

The mutineers in Kenya, Tanganyika and Uganda were former members of the Queen's African Rifles who had served under the British flag until the three territories gained independence. After independence, some British officers remained at the three governments' request to train and command the troops. The mutinies stemmed from demands for removal of the British and for higher pay.

A spokesman in London for Britain's Commonwealth Ministry denied Soviet charges that Britain plans to invade Zanzibar to overthrow the revolutionary regime. The spokesman said Britain never had any intention of intervening in Zanzibar despite the coup.

Premier Khrushchev warned that any forcible acts toward the leftist regime on the spice island would bring "dangerous consequences." But the Soviet statement omitted the usual rocket rattling and made no mention of Tanganyika, Uganda or Kenya, whose African leaders called back British troops to help keep order.

More than 3,500 British troops maintained order in the three East African nations after lightning weekend moves that caused the deaths of four African soldiers. Three were killed when commandos quelled a new mutiny Saturday at a barracks outside Dar es Salaam, the Tanganyikan capital. The other was killed when British troops put down an uprising Friday night at Lanet Camp in Kenya.

Utah Zoo's Curator Is Killed By Adder

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The City Zoo's curator, Jerry de Bary, 37, died today after hours of agony from the bite of a deadly African snake.

De Bary, bitten Saturday night when he suffered a dizzy spell while cleaning the puff adder's cage, died at 6:30 a.m. after a day and a half of what friends said was excruciating pain.

Once Around Roundtown

THE PICKAWAY County Sheriff's department received a worried call late Saturday from Marshall Glenn Clay of Ashville.

He was watching the basketball game between Teays Valley and Washington C. H. . . . When he went to his cruiser after the game it was not where he had left it.

Marshall Clay rushed to a telephone, phoned the sheriff and a state bulletin was immediately on the air notifying all law enforcement agencies of the theft.

A few minutes later Marshall Clay called back. . . . He had found the cruiser behind the school building, where pranks had apparently pushed it. . . . The Marshall's son, Mitchell Clay, is a starting member of the undefeated Teays Valley basketball team.

86 Jailed In Atlanta Racial Fuss

ATLANTA (AP) — Racial demonstrations in downtown Atlanta Sunday resulted in the arrest of 86 persons in the wake of an inspection tour by a United Nations anti-discrimination group.

Most of the 86 arrested were carried bodily to jail. They were released upon their own recognizance after they were charged with disorderly conduct and creating a disturbance.

Most were Negro students. But Negro comedian Dick Gregory, who for a time directed the demonstration at the restaurant, also was seized.

Members of the U.N. subcommittee on Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities watched Negro and Ku Klux Klan pickets in action.

The Negroes were protesting segregation and the Klan pickets were distributing literature proclaiming that a white boycott was hurting Atlanta businesses which have become integrated.

Members of the U.N. group saw none of the violence, which erupted after they left for New York.

ment in the southwestern Congo province of Kwilu.

The central government said it had documentary proof the rebels, led by former Education Minister Pierre Mulele, are supported by Red China.

The government declared a state of emergency in Kwilu province and rushed 450 soldiers into the region. It said important measures would be taken, "the nature of which will be revealed at an opportune moment."

Irene Ferrel, 43, of Eagle Butte, S.D., Sunday was reported killed by a rebel's arrow during a raid on a Baptist mission at the village of Mangungu, 300 miles southeast of Leopoldville.

The Congo inland missionary in Leopoldville reported that Ruth Hege, 58, of Wellington, Ohio, also attached to the Mangungu station, was wounded. Latest reports indicated she was still in the area.

The guerrillas killed three Roman Catholic priests last week.

Seven American missionaries and two children were removed by U.N. helicopters Friday from Kandale, in southern Kwilu, after guerrillas burned their station.

The Rev. Peter Buller of Mountain Lake, Minn., who fled with his wife and two children from their mission 20 miles northwest of Mangungu, said he spotted Miss Ferrel signaling for help Wednesday when he flew over her mission.

She could only be reached from the air by helicopter because there is no landing strip.

"She and her friends were out on the lawn," he said. "Then we got a letter telling us she was dead—killed by an arrow."

Miss Hege was born in California and reared in Wellington. She is a graduate of Wellington High School and Wheaton College. She has been operating a Bible school mission with Miss Ferrel in the Congo.

Miss Hege's sister, Mrs. G. Edgar Milner, lives in Lakewood, a Cleveland suburb.

"Ruth is a very brave person," Mrs. Milner said Sunday night. "She loved pioneer mission work. She liked being with the natives. She never cared much for working where conditions were comfortable."

Britain's Cuba Trade Explained by Premier

NEW YORK (AP) — Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home of Great Britain says "it is possible to argue that people become less Communist when they are more comfortable, and that, by and large, is our point of view."

Huge Saturn Rocket Firing Is Postponed

Fueling Trouble Delays Launch For 48 Hours

CAPE KENNEDY (AP)—Difficulties in fueling today forced a 48-hour postponement in efforts to hurl the huge Saturn I superrocket into orbit. The launching would have given the United States the lead in the race for space rocket power.

A 40-man launching team started its final countdown at 11 p. m. Sunday but started experiencing difficulties shortly before noon today.

Earlier this month, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy chief of the space agency, said, "we are drawing very close" to the Russians in rocket power and "as soon as the Saturn satellite has been placed in orbit we will have relieved this deficiency in weight-carrying ability we've labored under so long."

The rocket, 164 feet tall and weighing 562 tons, is the first in the Saturn I series with a live second stage, which burns high-energy liquid hydrogen. Successes were recorded on four earlier flights of the first stage, an eight-engine powerplant that generates 1.5 million pounds of thrust, equal to 34 million horsepower.

If the rocket performs as planned, the second stage will ignite on the edge of space to propel into orbit a satellite weighing 37,700 pounds.

The launching is the first of two scheduled from Cape Kennedy this week. Thursday, the Ranger 6 spacecraft is to be launched to the moon to take hundreds of closeup television pictures.

The Soviet Union's 14,292-pound Sputniks 7 and 8 are the heaviest man-made objects to achieve orbit. The United States' heavyweight entry was the 10,200-pound Centaur launched in November.

Most of the Saturn I satellite consists of dead weight, including 11,600 pounds of sand for nose cone ballast and the 13,500-pound burned out second stage, which is to remain attached. The satellite carries a radio beacon for tracking, but no useful payload since the flight is a test.

Many U.S. experts believe the Saturn I rocket, with its high-energy hydrogen second stage, is the most powerful rocket in the world.

Mother Admits Breaking Tot's Leg

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP)—A 28-year-old mother is free on $2,500 bond after pleading guilty to breaking her 8-month-old daughter's legs while trying to put a diaper on the child.

Mrs. Margaret P. Morrison of Munroe Falls pleaded guilty to child mistreatment charges Saturday in Municipal Court, but Judge Edward J. Mahoney deferred sentencing for at least two weeks until he has received reports from authorities on the case.

Police quoted Mrs. Morrison, who is expecting a third child, as saying she used too much force while trying to diaper her daughter Tuesday. The girl, Kathleen, is reported in satisfactory condition at Children's Hospital in Akron.

Chinese Reds Get French OK

PARIS (AP)—France officially recognize the Communist Chinese regime in Peking today.

Peking radio made a similar announcement.

The French announcement had said the two governments had agreed to establish diplomatic relations and to exchange ambassadors.

There was no immediate indication of how this step would affect the ties between France and the Nationalist Chinese regime of President Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa.

French officials previously had said that Peking had not demanded that France break relations with Chiang as a condition for diplomatic ties, and the assumption was that France could therefore maintain relations with both regimes.

Peking Radio said France and Red China have agreed to appoint ambassadors to each other within three months.

In Washington, the U.S. State Department called France's recognition of Peking "an unfortunate step" and reaffirmed U.S. intentions to stand by the Nationalist regime. The State Department said it had "repeatedly expressed" its view to the French.

The State Department said the French recognition was particularly unfortunate since it came "at a time when the Chinese Communists are actively promoting aggression and subversion in Southeast Asia and elsewhere."

The French government announcement said:

"The government of the French Republic and the government of the People's Republic of China have decided, by mutual accord, to establish diplomatic relations.

Ohioan Calls For U.S. To OK Chinese

BOSTON (AP)—An Ohio industrialist called today for the United States to sponsor admission of Red China and all other nations to the United Nations.

Edward Lamb, chairman of the board of Seiberling Rubber Co. of Akron, Ohio, and Lamb Industries, Inc., of Toledo said in a prepared speech that the future peace of the world depends on a vast interchange of trade among all nations, regardless of their political or social systems.

Lamb spoke before the Public Affairs Club of the Harvard Business School. He said it is a question whether economic boycotts have any great effect.

"We are finding that our own historical policies of encirclement of Soviet Russia are failing down because of the weight of vast international trade between nations of varying political systems," he said.

"It is my conviction," he said "that we can only establish a free trade among peoples, only raise the standard of living of all peoples, and only accomplish a semblance of peace in the world when we in the United States sponsor the admission of Red China and all other peoples to the society of nations."

U.S. Sky Spies Work OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson disclosed today that two U.S. military spy-in-the-sky satellites have succeeded in detecting a number of intercontinental ballistic missile launches, both from Florida and from California.

U.S. Missiles 'Dependable'

McNamara Replies To Goldwater Rap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told Congress today that he has "no hesitancy whatever" about the dependability of U.S. missiles. They are even more dependable for reaching targets than manned bombers, he said.

The defense chief's testimony to the House Armed Services Committee was, in effect, a reply to questions raised about missile dependability by Sen. Barry Goldwater, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

In a recent campaign statement in New Hampshire, Goldwater said long-range missiles were not dependable and expressed concern about the diminished role of manned bombers.

McNamara, in a 171-page statement on the "posture" of the armed forces, also replied to critics of what has been called the "overkill" capability of the U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile and Polaris weapons systems. These critics say that the U.S. has too much missile power, enough to destroy targets several times over.

McNamara said the missile program must have "extra insurance" to make certain that various types of attack can be countered.

"We must be completely sure, and the Communists must be completely sure, about our ability at all times to retaliate decisively against Soviet cities, even under the worst of circumstances," McNamara said.

Youth Is Shot During Breakin

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A pre-dawn break-in attempt at a West Side confectionery resulted in a bullet wound for a youthful suspect and, police say, solution of almost 150 automobile lootings in the city.

Rookie patrolman Harry Chadwick fired one shot Sunday when two youths apparently trying to enter Hill's Confectionery disregarded warnings and ran. Earl Chapman, 18, was struck in the hip. His wound was described as not serious.

Officers said Chapman later admitted the wave of car lootings over a three-month period. His 17-year-old alleged partner was found at Chapman's address and, according to police, admitted taking part in the crimes.

Detectives recovered $1,500 in assorted loot.

Mrs. Smith Takes Plunge

New Hampshire Primary Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine announced today she would seek the Republican presidential nomination.

If she succeeds, she will be the first woman ever to run on the national ticket of a major political party.

Her plans call for entry into the New Hampshire GOP presidential primary and she could very well upset the political apocryphal there.

Already entered in the New Hampshire race are some big names — all male — of the Republican party.

There has been speculation that while the gray-haired, 66-year-old veteran of 15 years in the Senate may announce for the presidency, her real objective would be the vice presidential nomination.

Mrs. Smith tried to scotch such thinking Sunday. She told an interviewer on WRC-TV's "Sunday" show: "If I decide to run I will be a candidate for the presidency."

Could a woman win the nomination?

"It would be an uphill job, but I think it is possible," she said.

Mrs. Smith had been expected to announce her intentions

MacArthur

NEW YORK (AP) — Douglas MacArthur has been hailed by President Johnson on the general's 84th birthday as "one of the authentic American heroes of this century."

The general of the Army—a five-star title—displayed a congratulatory telegram from the President and recalled that Johnson had been one of his officers in the Southwest Pacific during World War II.

"I remember the day I decorated him with the Silver Star," the general said, "for his coolness and courage during an air mission in New Guinea."

MacArthur added: "The President's message, of course, is an extravagant one. But I shall cherish it, because it comes not only from the chief magistrate of the country, but because of the close friendship between the President and myself."

Echo II Sighting Due This Evening

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has announced sighting schedules for the new Echo II balloon satellite for tonight and early Tuesday over Ohio.

With variations of at most a minute or two between different parts of the state, Echo will appear at 6:35 p.m. EST in the eastern sky, 47 to 61 degrees above the horizon, moving north-eastward.

Subsequently it will appear at 8:24 p.m., in the west, 225 degrees up, going northeast; 4:10 a.m., east, 5-11 degrees, going southeast, and 5:57 a.m., east, 69 - 88 degrees, moving southeast.

The President's report said carrying infrared sensors which can detect ballistic missiles in powered flights as they emerge from the atmosphere. Disclosure of last year's detection was in a 150-page summary of 1963 space accomplishments of civilian and military government agencies involved in space work.

There was no information as to the launching dates or major characteristics of the satellites.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Dr. Don Delano Tullis, 85, a retired Presbyterian minister whose column, "Everyday re- ligion," appeared in several newspapers, died Sunday.

Chinese Reds Get French OK

PARIS (AP)—France official- ly recognize the Communist Chinese regime in Peking to- day.

Peking radio made a similar announcement.

The French announcement said the two governments had agreed to establish diplomatic relations and to exchange am- bassadors.

There was no immediate in- dication of how this step would affect the ties between France and the Nationalist Chinese re- gime of President Chiang Kai- shek on Formosa.

French officials previously had said that Peking had not demanded that France break relations with Chiang as a con- dition for diplomatic ties, and the assumption was that France could therefore main- tain relations with both re- gimes.

Peking Radio said France and Red China have agreed to appoint ambassadors to each other within three months.

In Washington, the U.S. State Department called France's recognition of Peking "an un- fortunate step" and reaffirmed U.S. intentions to stand by the Nationalist regime. The State Department said it had "re- peatedly expressed" its view to the French.

The State Department said the French recognition was par- ticularly unfortunate since it came "at a time when the Chi- nese Communists are actively promoting aggression and sub- version in Southeast Asia and elsewhere."

The French government an- nouncement said: "The government of the French Republic and the gov- ernment of the People's Repub- lic of China have decided, by mutual accord, to establish di- plomatic relations. "They have agreed, in this

BOSTON (AP)—An Ohio in- dustrialist called today for the United States to sponsor ad- mission of Red China and all other nations to the United Nations.

Edward Lamb, chairman of the board of Seiberling Rubber Co. of Akron, Ohio, and Lamb Industries, Inc., of Toledo said in a prepared speech that the future peace of the world de- pends on a vast interchange of trade among all nations, regard- less of their political or social systems.

Lamb spoke before the Public Affairs Club of the Harvard Business School. He said it is a question whether economic boycotts have any great effect.

"We are finding that our own historical policies of encirc- ling of Soviet Russia are fall- ing down because of the weight of vast international trade be- tween nations of varying po- litical systems," he said.

"It is my conviction," he said "that we can only establish a free trade among peoples, only raise the standard of living of all peoples, and only accomplish a semblance of peace in the world when we in the United States sponsor the admission of Red China and all other peoples to the society of nations."

Using secret infrared heat - seeking devices, the orbiting spy satellites sent into orbit in 1963 were able to detect ICBM launchings from Cape Kennedy, Fla., and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The President's report said carrying infrared sensors which can detect ballistic mis- siles in powered flights as they emerge from the atmosphere.

Disclosure of last year's de- tection was in a 150-page sum- mary of 1963 space accom- plishments of civilian and mil- itary government agencies in- volved in space work.

There was no information as to the launching dates or major characteristics of the satellites.

Mrs. Smith Takes Plunge

New Hampshire Primary Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine announced today she would seek the Republican presidential nom- ination.

If she succeeds, she will be the first woman ever to run on the national ticket of a major political party.

Her plans call for entry into the New Hampshire GOP presi- dential primary and she could very well upset the political ap- pearance there.

Already entered in the New Hampshire race are some big names — all male — of the Republican party.

There has been speculation that while the gray-haired, 66- year-old veteran of 15 years in the Senate may announce for the presidency, her real objec- tive would be the vice presiden- tial nomination.

Mrs. Smith tried to scotch such thinking Sunday. She told an interviewer on WRC-TV's "Sunday" show: "If I decide to run I will be a candidate for the presidency."

Could a woman win the nom- ination?

"It would be an uphill job, but I think it is possible," she said.

Mrs. Smith had been expect- ed to announce her intentions (Continued on Page 2)

LBJ Hails MacArthur

NEW YORK (AP) — Douglas MacArthur has been hailed by President Johnson on the gen- eral's 84th birthday as "one of the authentic American heroes of this century."

The general of the Army—a five-star title—displayed a con- gratulatory telegram from the President and recalled that Johnson had been one of his of- ficers in the Southwest Pacific during World War II.

"I remember the day I de- corated him with the Silver Star," the general said, "for his cool- ness and courage during an air mission in New Guinea."

MacArthur added: "The President's message, of course, is an extravagant one— But I shall cherish it, because it comes not only from the chief magistrate of the country, but because of the close friendship between the President and my- self."

Echo II Sighting Due This Evening

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has announced sighting schedules for the new Echo II balloon satellite for to- night and early Tuesday over Ohio.

With variations of at most a minute or two between different parts of the state, Echo will ap- pear at 6:35 p.m. EST in the eastern sky, 47 to 61 degrees above the horizon, moving north-eastward.

Subsequently it will appear at 8:24 p.m. in the west, -225 degrees up, going northeast; 4:10 a.m., east, 5-11 degrees, go- ing southeast, and 5:57 a.m., east, 69 - 88 degrees, moving southeast.

U.S. Sky Spies Work OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pres- ident Johnson disclosed today that two U.S. military spy-in- the-sky satellites have succee- ded in detecting a number of in- tercontinental ballistic missiles launchings, both from Florida and from California.

The satellites successfully de- tected launchings not only of liquid fuel ICBMs—the huge Ti- tan and Atlas boosters—but of the much more compact and swift - climbing, solid - fueled Minuteman ICBM, Johnson said.

Philosopher-Farmer Schriver Due at Farm City Forum Here

Unusual, different and down to earth is the label tagged on "Cows, Kids and Co-ops," the humorous talk that will be presented by philosopher-farmer Henry Schriver when he appears at the Farm City Forum here on Feb. 3.

The session, sponsored by the local Farm Bureau, will open at 11:45 a. m. The Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building is the location.

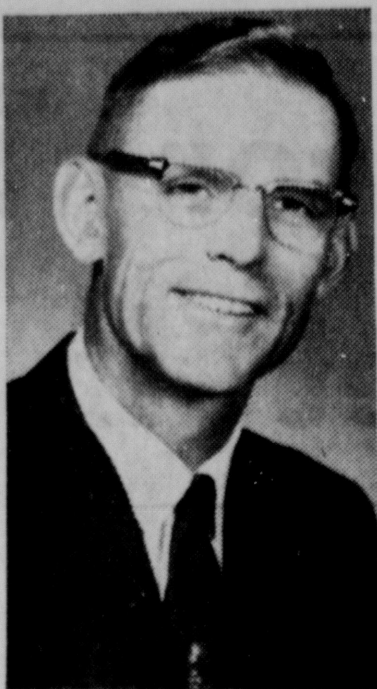

Persons who have heard Schriver in the past refer to him as a "second Will Rogers." Farm Bureau officials say he will throw an interesting spotlight on the significance of better rural-urban relations for a better America.

Schriver has been described by the Cleveland Plain Dealer as the busiest and most outstanding spokesman for agriculture in the Midwest. In his address, he tells of the ups and downs of farm life, gained through a lifetime of farming; the joys and trials of rearing a family of 11 children; and his firm belief in a "do-it-yourself" America and the part cooperatives must play in this system.

MATERIAL for the speech comes out of his experiences on a Lorain County combination dairy-farm and many activities in community, civic and farm organizations.

He has been active in his local school district as a member and president of the board of education; a member of the Belden Methodist Church where he served as church school superintendent and now as teacher of high school age people. Termed a strong supporter of farm organizations, he is a member of Farmers Production Credit of Ashland, the Federal Land Bank of Ravenna, Milk Producers Federation, Farm Bureau Co-Op Elevator, Ohio State Horticulture Society, Holstein-Friesian Assn. of America and a board member of the Lorain County Farm Bureau Federation.

Schriver has a degree in agriculture from Ohio State University. He is a member of Gamma Sigma Delta, a professional agriculture honor society. All farmers in Pickaway

Glitt Files For Post on Commission

Charles H. Glitt, 1101 S. Court St., today filed petitions seeking a Democratic nomination as county commissioner in the May 5 primary.

CHARLES H. GLITT

Glitt, a Circleville businessman for the last 29 years, seeks one of two Commission posts which will be decided at the November general election. He currently owns and operates Glitt's Ice Cream at Court and Ohio Sts.

The veteran businessman was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate in the 1962 primary. He was defeated by then incumbent Commissioner Charles Morris Jr. who also will be a Democrat candidate in May.

A resident of Circleville for many years, he is a 1933 graduate of the local high school. Born in Groveport, he attended elementary school in Washington and Salt Creek Townships.

THE COMMISSIONER aspirant has been a sports enthusiast and athletic booster in Circleville and Pickaway County for many years. He played an active part in helping obtain equipment for Ted Lewis Park, and the Southend Playground two years ago.

He is a member of the Pickaway County Agriculture Society, BPO Elks, IOOF, Pickaway County Farmer and Sportsmen Assn., Circleville Booster Club and a social member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Glitt and his wife, Margaret, have five children. They belong to the Methodist Church.

Stolen Pickup Truck Recovered

A pickup truck stolen in Laurelville Saturday morning was recovered in Louisa, Ky., the same evening, it was reported today by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

The truck belongs to Eugene Karshner of Laurelville. It had been abandoned and would not run when found, according to local authorities.

Deputy William Pontious, investigating the theft for the local department, said three escapees from the Lancaster BIS apparently had taken the vehicle. A chain saw and a house jack in the truck were missing.

Cub Pack 155 To Meet

Cub Scout Pack 155 will meet at the EUB Church Service Center 7:30 p. m. tomorrow. Awards will be given and pine wood derby kits will be distributed to Cubs.

Johnson Asks

However, he didn't mention any plans to extend the order to conventionally financed housing, as some civil rights advocates have urged.

On the two biggest programs in the housing field, Johnson: —Asked authorization of 50,000 additional public housing units for each of the next four years. The 1961 act authorized 100,000 units spread over three years.

The President also asked authority to lease 10,000 existing housing units a year for four years and also to purchase existing housing within the 50,000 unit annual limit to be converted to public housing facilities.

—Asked a new $1.4 billion, two-year authorization for urban renewal. The 1961 act authorized $2 billion for three years.

However, it was the plan for federal aid to fast-growing suburbs that represented the bold new shift in policy. Except for a program to preserve open space in city areas and some community facilities loans, little has been done in this area.

Stocks Climb Still Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—An irregular advance pushed the stock market further into record high ground early this afternoon.

Gains of fractions to a point or so among most key stocks nudged the averages ahead.

An assortment of encouraging news from the business and economic front provided the background for market action.

Increasing demand for steel was reported and the steel shares provided leadership as the list advanced from the start.

Record profits for General Motors were reported for the second straight year, its earnings never equaled by any corporation. GM moved higher but backed away from its best fractional gain. Other motors did not follow its leadership.

Advances elsewhere in the list were highly selective. Airlines declined. Rails, strong late last week, seemed to be balking at further progress for the moment.

TV School Board Sells Buildings

The Teays Valley Board of Education has sold two parcels of land to the Village of South Bloomfield.

The real estate includes the South Bloomfield School building and surrounding ground. A Spokesman for the Board of Education said the building and grounds sold for $4,000. The building had not been used by the school for nearly two school years.

The school board also sold a building and small parcel of land in Madison Twp. to the township trustees. It had been used as a garage by the township for several years. This parcel of real estate was sold for $200.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

Cigarettes: Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., has scheduled hearings beginning Feb. 4 to find out how much pesticide gets into a cigarette, into its smoke and into its smoker.

Ribicoff said this round of government operations subcommittee hearings on pesticides was prompted by the surgeon general's report on smoking and health.

"The smoking report confirms the information we have been gathering that pesticides, used on tobacco plants, end up in detectable quantities in cigarettes," he said.

Surgeon Gen. Luther L. Terry said, meanwhile, that he sees no need for legislation to help the public health service alert Americans to the Health Hazard cigarette smoking poses.

Annual report: The American Red Cross reported Sunday that it spent $99,154,343 in the fiscal year ended June 30 and took in $102,306,313.

The principal item of expense was work with the armed forces — $38,334,105. Disaster operations cost $9,221,337 and the blood bank $14,035,651.

Among the listed expenses was $3,035,503 for fund raising.

Red Mass: President Johnson joined with top government officials and diplomats Sunday in attending the annual Roman Catholic Red Mass at St. Matthew's Cathedral.

They heard the Most Rev. John J. Russell, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Richmond, Va., declare "that separation of church and state which we all cherish in our country never meant the divorce of government from religion or the separation of law from morality."

Gasoline Cap Taken

William Butterbaugh, rear of 140 Hayward Ave., told city police yesterday that a lock type gasoline cap was broken off and removed from his car. The auto was parked in the rear of the house.

Plane Door Found

Dave Evans, a Route 4 farmer, told the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department today he had found an airplane bomb bay door on his farm.

The door was apparently one reported lost in the vicinity Jan. 18 by Lockbourne Air Force Base officials.

License Plate Lost

Merle Thomas, 210 S. Court St., yesterday reported the loss of a license plate here. He told police the registration is X-11979.

Chinese . . .

President Charles de Gaulle's government had informed the United States it would soon recognize the Peking regime. U.S. officials made no secret of their opposition, and President Johnson told a news conference Saturday his government had given its views to France along with an estimate of its general effect on the Atlantic Alliance and the free world in general.

De Gaulle, as expected, gave outward indication that he was the least bothered by the American opposition.

One cause for U.S. concern was the likely effect of the French recognition on Red China's long battle for a seat in the United Nations.

Recognition was seen at U.N. headquarters as a major breakthrough for the Chinese Communists, but it seemed doubtful that enough nations would switch votes to give Peking a seat at the next session of the general assembly in the fall.

De Gaulle's recognition agreement with Peking was worked out by a former French premier, Edgar Faure, whom De Gaulle sent on an exploratory mission to Red China last fall. Faure had made one private trip to Red China previously, but even then as a former French premier he was widely received.

De Gaulle made the move in an effort to recoup French influence in Southeast Asia and the Far East. He has advanced guaranteed neutralization as a solution for the conflicts in Viet Nam and feels that this can be achieved only if Red China is cut in on the deal.

Nursing Home Rulings Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Emergency regulations for electrical wiring Ohio nursing homes to safeguard against fire became effective today.

The Public Health Council filed the new regulations with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown in an action stemming from the death of 63 patients in the Fitchville Golden Age nursing home fire Nov. 23.

Some 1,200 nursing homes over the state now have until Feb. 26 to comply voluntarily with the regulations prescribing national electric code standards for wiring and apparatus.

The regulations call for "S" type fuses or circuit breakers in wiring to guard against circuits becoming overloaded. The Health Council plans to start inspection of homes after the voluntarily compliance period ends and to adopt permanent regulations to supplant the emergency rules.

Mrs. Smith

(Continued from Page One) Dec. 5 in a speech to the Women's National Press Club, her luncheon forum today. But she canceled that talk and other appearances immediately after receiving word of President Kennedy's assassination.

Already announced for the nomination are Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Gov. George Romney of Michigan are considered contenders by many political observers, although they haven't said they are.

Mrs. Smith considers herself an independent. She has described her position as "less liberal than that of Nelson Rockefeller and less conservative than that of Barry Goldwater."

Mrs. Smith has never lost an election. On the death of her husband, Clyde H. Smith, she ran for his House seat in 1940 and held it until 1949 when she became the second woman elected to the Senate.

County interested in creating better relations with their urban friends are urged to bring an urban guest to the Farm City Forum.

Tickets may be obtained from Farm Bureau Twp. directors, at the Pickaway Dairy, the Pickaway Grain, the County Extension office and local Farm Bureau office. The tickets must be purchased prior to Jan. 30.

Glitt Files For Post on Commission

Charles H. Glitt, 1101 S. Court St., today filed petitions seeking a Democratic nomination as county commissioner in the May 5 primary.

CHARLES H. GLITT

Glitt, a Circleville businessman for the last 29 years, seeks one of two Commission posts which will be decided at the November general election. He currently owns and operates Glitt's Ice Cream at Court and Ohio Sts.

The veteran businessman was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate in the 1962 primary. He was defeated by then incumbent Commissioner Charles Morris Jr. who also will be a Democrat candidate in May.

A resident of Circleville for many years, he is a 1933 graduate of the local high school. Born in Groveport, he attended elementary school in Washington and Salt Creek Townships.

THE COMMISSIONER aspirant has been a sports enthusiast and athletic booster in Circleville and Pickaway County for many years. He played an active part in helping obtain equipment for Ted Lewis Park, and the Southend Playground two years ago.

He is a member of the Pickaway County Agriculture Society, BPO Elks, IOOF, Pickaway County Farmer and Sportsmen Assn., Circleville Booster Club and a social member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Glitt and his wife, Margaret, have five children. They belong to the Methodist Church.

Stolen Pickup Truck Recovered

A pickup truck stolen in Laurelville Saturday morning was recovered in Louisa, Ky., the same evening, it was reported today by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

The truck belongs to Eugene Karshner of Laurelville. It had been abandoned and would not run when found, according to local authorities.

Deputy William Pontious, investigating the theft for the local department, said three escapees from the Lancaster BHS apparently had taken the vehicle. A chain saw and a house jack in the truck were missing.

Cub Pack 155 To Meet

However, he didn't mention any plans to extend the order to conventionally financed housing, as some civil rights advocates have urged.

On the two biggest programs in the housing field, Johnson: —Asked authorization of 50,000 additional public housing units for each of the next four years. The 1961 act authorized 100,000 units spread over three years.

The President also asked authority to lease 10,000 existing housing units a year for four years and also to purchase existing housing within the 50,000 unit annual limit to be converted to public housing facilities.

—Asked a new $1.4 billion, two-year authorization for urban renewal. The 1961 act authorized $2 billion for three years.

However, it was the plan for federal aid to fast-growing suburbs that represented the bold new shift in policy. Except for a program to preserve open space in city areas and some community facilities loans, little has been done in this area.

Stocks Climb Still Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—An irregular advance pushed the stock market further into record high ground early this afternoon.

Gains of fractions to a point or so among most key stocks nudged the averages ahead.

An assortment of encouraging news from the business and economic front provided the background for market action.

Increasing demand for steel was reported and the steel shares provided leadership as the list advanced from the start.

Record profits for General Motors were reported for the second straight year, its earnings never equaled by any corporation. GM moved higher but backed away from its best fractional gain. Other motors did not follow its leadership.

Advances elsewhere in the list were highly selective. Airlines declined. Rails, strong late last week, seemed to be balking at further progress for the moment.

TV School Board Sells Buildings

The Teays Valley Board of Education has sold two parcels of land to the Village of South Bloomfield.

The real estate includes the South Bloomfield School building and surrounding ground. A Spokesman for the Board of Education said the building and grounds sold for $4,000. The building had not been used by the school for nearly two school years.

The school board also sold a building and small parcel of land in Madison Twp. to the township trustees. It had been used as a garage by the township for several years. This parcel of real estate was sold for $200.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

Cigarettes: Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., has scheduled hearings beginning Feb. 4 to find out how much pesticide gets into a cigarette, into its smoke and into its smoker.

Ribicoff said this round of government operations subcommittee hearings on pesticides was prompted by the surgeon general's report on smoking and health.

"The smoking report confirms the information we have been gathering that pesticides, used on tobacco plants, end up in detectable quantities in cigarettes," he said.

Surgeon Gen. Luther L. Terry said, meanwhile, that he sees no need for legislation to help the public health service alert Americans to the Health Hazard cigarette smoking poses.

Annual report: The American Red Cross reported Sunday that it spent $99,154,343 in the fiscal year ended June 30 and took in $102,306,313.

The principal item of expense was work with the armed forces — $38,334,105. Disaster operations cost $9,221,337 and the blood bank $14,035,651.

Among the listed expenses was $3,035,503 for fund raising.

Red Mass: President Johnson joined with top government officials and diplomats Sunday in attending the annual Roman Catholic Red Mass at St. Matthew's Cathedral.

They heard the Most Rev. John J. Russell, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Richmond, Va., declare "that separation of church and state which we all cherish in our country never meant the divorce of government from religion or the separation of law from morality."

Chinese . . .

President Charles de Gaulle's government had informed the United States it would soon recognize the Peking regime. U.S. officials made no secret of their opposition, and President Johnson told a news conference Saturday his government had given its views to France along with an estimate of its general effect on the Atlantic Alliance and the free world in general.

De Gaulle, as expected, gave an outward indication that he was the least bothered by the American opposition.

One cause for U.S. concern was the likely effect of the French recognition on Red China's long battle for a seat in the United Nations.

Recognition was seen at U.N. headquarters as a major breakthrough for the Chinese Communists, but it seemed doubtful that enough nations would switch votes to give Peking a seat at the next session of the general assembly in the fall.

De Gaulle's recognition agreement with Peking was worked out by a former French premier, Edgar Faure, whom De Gaulle sent on an exploratory mission to Red China last fall. Faure had made one private trip to Red China previously, but even then as a former French premier he was widely received.

De Gaulle made the move in an effort to recoup French influence in Southeast Asia and the Far East. He has advanced guaranteed neutralization as a solution for the conflicts in Vietnam and feels that this can be achieved only if Red China is cut in on the deal.

Nursing Home Rulings Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Emergency regulations for electrical wiring Ohio nursing homes to safeguard against fire became effective today.

The Public Health Council filed the new regulations with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown in an action stemming from the death of 63 patients in the Fitchville Golden Age nursing home fire Nov. 23.

Some 1,200 nursing homes over the state now have until Feb. 28 to comply voluntarily with the regulations prescribing national electric code standards for wiring and apparatus.

The regulations call for "S" type fuses or circuit breakers in wiring to guard against circuits becoming overloaded.

The Health Council plans to start inspection of homes after the voluntarily compliance period ends and to adopt permanent regulations to supplant the emergency rules.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Red Chinese just had enough boats to get enough men across 100 miles of water in 1950 the problem being created now by French President Charles de Gaulle would be different or it wouldn't exist.

General DeGaulle has recognized the Chinese Reds as lawful rulers of mainland China, over American protests. This country has refused them this recognition and so far has kept them out of the United Nations.

The Frenchman is starting—both in Asia and the United Nations—a whole new series of problems for the United States whose troubles with China form one of the greatest, and most emotional, switch-boards in American history.

At the time the United Nations was created in 1945 it was decided—by five big powers—that there were five big powers and they should have the only permanent seats in the Security Council of the United Nations.

The five were the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France, and Nationalist China which was run at the time by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

But after World War II ended the Chinese Communists, who had been doing the same thing on and off since 1927, fought Chiang for control of China. Between 1945 and 1949 this country gave Chiang over $2 billion in military and economic help and then figured he was a lost cause.

On Aug. 5, 1949, the American State Department issued a "white paper," explaining why it was withdrawing help. It said Chiang's government was too corrupt and inept to hold the support of the Chinese masses. On Dec. 8, 1949, Chiang and what was left of his forces fled the mainland to Formosa across 100 miles of open water and there set up shop as boss of about eight million Formosans who had long been held subject by the Japanese but were considered, by the Chinese at least, as part of China.

This country was so fed up with Chiang that on Jan. 5, 1950, President Truman publicly washed his hands of the generalissimo, telling a news conference this country would not give him military aid or help defend him from a Red Chinese attack. This was American policy until June 24, 1950, when the North Koreans attacked South Korea.

But in those six months the Red Chinese did not try to take Formosa. When the Korean War began Truman not only decided to use American forces in Korea but gave Formosa air and naval protection. Chiang has been an American ally ever since.

Then something else happened. The anger in this country at the Red Chinese for going into Korea and killing American troops was compounded perhaps by embarrassment that the Red Chinese were even in a position to do it.

The search for someone to blame began. Republicans blamed the Truman policy in China. A new era began: Sen. Joseph McCarthy's hunt for traitors in the State Department. The whole problem of China became an emotional nightmare.

Chiang was almost glorified. As the McCarthy era ended in 1954 President Eisenhower pledged this country to defend Formosa from attack. The pledge still stands.

The American position has been that Chiang's Nationalist government on Formosa is the legitimate government of mainland China although the Reds have bossed the mainland since 1950 and Chiang couldn't possibly return without American help.

The result is a kind of mythology since there is no sign that the Reds will be overthrown or that Chiang can ever go back. But Chiang still represents China in the Security Council because this country has kept Red China out.

Yet what Chiang is actually boss of on Formosa is an island of 13,885 square miles and about 11 million people. The Red Chinese control on the mainland 3.9 million square miles and about 700 million people.

If size were the criterion other countries would have a greater claim on the permanent Security Council seat than Chiang. For instance, Japan, Mexico, Peru, the Philippines, Thailand, and, of course, India which, with about 375 million to 400 million people is next to Red China in population.

Meanwhile, the Red Chinese have developed hatred for the United States and probably for the Soviet Union, too, and insist that as the price for accepting a seat in the United Nations it wants, as boss of China, Chiang's seat on the Security Council.

The question of letting Red China into the United Nations will come up this year and that alone will give the international organization a busy season.

De Gaulle, by recognizing the Chinese Communists, has undercut this country's attempts to isolate the Reds, may pave the way for their getting into the United Nations, and to some extent may affect the will of the Southeast Asian nations, backed by the United States, to stiff-arm the Chinese Communists.

Yet, from a practical standpoint, it would have been impossible for the American-Red Chinese deadlock to go on undisturbed indefinitely.

Steel Demand On Increase

Uptrend Expected To Continue

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel production and demand are on the rise, and the outlook is for a continued uptrend in steelmaking operations next month, the magazine Steel said today.

Producers are booking orders at a rate 5 to 10 per cent ahead of last month's pace, the trade publication said. Brisk activity was reported in all sheet steel markets.

"Leadtimes are tightening, as they invariably do in periods of expanding demand," Steel said. "Order backlogs are edging upward. Mills haven't started quoting longer deliveries, but buyers aren't taking any chances. They're starting to order farther ahead."

The magazine forecast a slight increase for the coming week in ingot production, which reached an estimated 2,150,000 tons the week ended Jan. 25. For all of January production will come to about 9.4 million tons, compared to 8.8 million tons in December and 8.4 million tons in January 1963.

Since the first of the year, steel reported, "There has been a lot of import activity in the Midwest—particularly in Chicago."

"Importers have been offering cold rolled sheets laid down in the Chicago port at prices $5 to $22 a ton less than those quoted by Chicago steelmakers. Deliveries from European mills are being quoted at 60 to 90 days, but the range may drop to 45-60 days after the seaway opens."

Jack Ruby — He Killed a Man And Gave History a Big Riddle

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby killed more than a man. He killed a secret.

The bullet he fired Sunday, Nov. 24, 1963, while millions watched on television, destroyed Lee Harvey Oswald and gave history an unsolvable riddle.

Why was President John F. Kennedy assassinated?

A mountain of evidence—circumstantial though it is—points to Oswald as the killer. But before Oswald could begin to provide answers to the riddle, Ruby pushed his way into the picture and killed Oswald.

Why?

There have been quick answers: he was insane with grief and killed impulsively to avenge the president. He killed to get publicity for himself and the strip joint he operated. He was part of a super-plot.

Ruby's behavior in jail indicates he may be troubled by the question, too.

He apparently gives little thought to his fate.

"He talks, oh my, how he talks," says one of Ruby's visitors, "but not once have I heard him ask, 'What will happen to me.' He does ask, 'Do people approve of me?'"

"Just this week, he spoke with me nearly two hours, and over and over he talked about that Sunday morning. It was like hearing a man talking about something that didn't happen to him, as though he was trying to figure out to whom it did happen. He goes over every single detail, over and over, as though he is trying to learn something or find something."

One of his most frequent visitors is his sister, Eva Grant. Her visits are welcome, but decades of brother-sister bickering do not vanish easily. Something about a recent visit caused Mrs. Grant to recall that when they lived in San Francisco in the early 1930s, Ruby got so angry with her one night he fled their apartment complaining, "If this was my wife, I'd divorce her, but how can you divorce a sister?"

He doesn't herald her visits with the pride and satisfaction that he displays for some people, such as the rabbi of a substantial conservative synagogue in Dallas.

"Ah, see, you guys," he called out to jailers during a visit by Dr. Hillel Silverman of Congregation Shearith Israel, "I've got a classy visitor now."

Among others stamped classy by Ruby are the noted psychiatrist, Dr. Manfred Guttmacher of the University of Maryland and Johns Hopkins; Dr. Roy Schafer, a psychologist from Yale University; Melvin Belli, the handsome and articulate lawyer from San Francisco. Schafer has given Ruby a battery of tests, and Guttmacher has examined him psychiatrically.

Prison routine hasn't cooled Ruby's passion for keeping trim. With close to 185 pounds on his 5-foot-9 frame, he is stocky. But exercise keeps him solid. His thinning hair worries him.

He still swings between emotional extremes. Old Dallas acquaintances say "Ruby is the kind of guy who reads a newspaper and lives it. He reads about a kid getting polio or a dog getting run over, and he cries. The same way in a movie. If the good guy gets double-crossed, Ruby acts like it happens to him."

Most of all he worries about what people think of him. "When he reads letters from people who tell him he did right, or otherwise compliment him," says one of his visitors, "his spirits go way up. He says he has had no mail from anyone criticizing him. Maybe they only give him the complimentary mail. I don't know."

"Class" is an important word to Ruby.

A source close to the prosecution says:

"Ruby is a class-conscious nobody who saw an opportunity to do something that would put him in the public eye and even make him a hero. He wasn't insane. He was rational. But he figured wrong. He's not a hero; he's a heel. Because of fouling up history."

The defense seems to agree too. Indications are it will try to show that Ruby's preoccupation with class not only was irrational but at certain times bordered on insanity.

It was the search for class that drew him to a soft-spoken, gentle woman who is now secretary to an insurance company executive.

"We went together most in 1955 and 1956," she says. "I was divorced then and my former husband has since passed away."

Mr. Ruby and I talked often about marriage but we never became formally engaged. We began to drift apart and stopped seeing one another in 1959.

"He certainly was a gentleman to me. He was kind and considerate. Anything I would say about him would be nice. It was such a shock to me when he shot Oswald."

But for all his gentlemanly behavior, he still was a fast man with his fists. He broke his hand in 1958 hitting an obstreperous patron.

He was quick to tip police about shady characters, too.

"Ruby was no stool pigeon, but he was damn good about tipping the cops about drunks or police characters," says a well-informed source in the district attorney's office.

Despite his readiness to scrap, Ruby stayed clear of serious trouble. There is no police record on him in Chicago or San Francisco. The only marks against him in Dallas are for after-hour sales of beer.

Mostly, he seemed preoccupied with his four dachshunds. He often called them "my children." He had a special place for his dogs behind the stage of the Carousel.

As a rule, he left his $125 a month apartment at 223 S. Ewing each day for a workout at the YMCA. He shared the apartment with George Senator, who describes himself as a wholesaler of postcards and an occasional ticket-taker at the Carousel.

Recently a visitor asked about his ambition in life. Ruby thought about it a while.

Then he said: "A success."

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Red Chinese just had enough boats to get enough men across 100 miles of water in 1950 the problem being created now by French President Charles de Gaulle would be different or it wouldn't exist.

General DeGaulle has recognized the Chinese Reds as lawful rulers of mainland China, over American protests. This country has refused them this recognition and so far has kept them out of the United Nations.

The Frenchman is starting—both in Asia and the United Nations—a whole new series of problems for the United States whose troubles with China form one of the greatest, and most emotional, switch-rounds in American history.

At the time the United Nations was created in 1945 it was decided—by five big powers—that there were five big powers and they should have the only permanent seats in the Security Council of the United Nations.

The five were the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France, and Nationalist China which was run at the time by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

But after World War II ended the Chinese Communists, who had been doing the same thing on and off since 1927, fought Chiang for control of China. Between 1945 and 1949 this country gave Chiang over $2 billion in military and economic help and then figured he was a lost cause.

On Aug. 5, 1949, the American State Department issued a "white paper," explaining why it was withdrawing help. It said Chiang's government was too corrupt and inept to hold the support of the Chinese masses. On Dec. 8, 1949, Chiang and what was left of his forces fled the mainland to Formosa across 100 miles of open water and there set up shop as boss of about eight million Formosans who had long been held subject by the Japanese but were considered, by the Chinese at least, as part of China.

This country was so fed up with Chiang that on Jan. 5, 1950, President Truman publicly washed his hands of the generalissimo, telling a news conference this country would not give him military aid or help defend him from a Red Chinese attack. This was American policy until June 24, 1950, when the North Koreans Reds attacked South Korea.

But in those six months the Red Chinese did not try to take Formosa. When the Korean War began Truman not only decided to use American forces in Korea but gave Formosa air and naval protection. Chiang has been an American ally ever since.

Then something else happened. The anger in this country at the Red Chinese for going into Korea and killing American troops was compounded perhaps by embarrassment that the Red Chinese were even in a position to do it.

The search for someone to blame began. Republicans blamed the Truman policy in China. A new era began: Sen. Joseph McCarthy's hunt for traitors in the State Department. The whole problem of China became an emotional nightmare.

Chiang was almost glorified. As the McCarthy era ended in 1954 President Eisenhower pledged this country to defend Formosa from attack. The pledge still stands.

The American position has been that Chiang's Nationalist government on Formosa is the legitimate government of mainland China although the Reds have bossed the mainland since 1950 and Chiang couldn't possibly return without American help.

The result is a kind of mythology since there is no sign that the Reds will be overthrown or that Chiang can ever go back. But Chiang still represents China in the Security Council because this country has kept Red China out.

Yet what Chiang is actually boss of on Formosa is an island of 13,885 square miles and about 11 million people. The Red Chinese control on the mainland 3.9 million square miles and about 700 million people.

If size were the criterion other countries would have a greater claim on the permanent Security Council seat than Chiang. For instance, Japan, Mexico, Peru, the Philippines, Thailand, and, of course, India which, with about 375 million to 400 million people is next to Red China in population.

Meanwhile, the Red Chinese have developed hatred for the United States and probably for the Soviet Union, too, and insist that as the price for accepting a seat in the United Nations it wants, as boss of China, Chiang's seat on the Security Council.

The question of letting Red China into the United Nations will come up this year and that alone will give the international organization a busy season.

De Gaulle, by recognizing the Chinese Communists, has undercut this country's attempts to isolate the Reds, may pave the way for their getting into the United Nations, and to some extent may affect the will of the Southeast Asian nations, backed by the United States, to stiffen the Chinese Communists.

Yet, from a practical standpoint, it would have been impossible for the American-Red Chinese deadlock to go on undisturbed indefinitely.

Steel Demand On Increase

Uptrend Expected To Continue

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel production and demand are on the rise, and the outlook is for a continued uptrend in steelmaking operations next month, the magazine Steel said today.

Producers are booking orders at a rate 5 to 10 per cent ahead of last month's pace, the trade publication said. Brisk activity was reported in all sheet steel markets.

"Leadtimes are tightening, as they invariably do in periods of expanding demand," Steel said. "Order backlogs are edging upward. Mills haven't started quoting longer deliveries, but buyers aren't taking any chances. They're starting to order farther ahead."

The magazine forecast a slight increase for the coming week in ingot production, which reached an estimated 2,150,000 tons the week ended Jan. 25. For all of January production will come to about 9.4 million tons, compared to 8.8 million tons in December and 8.4 million tons in January 1963.

Since the first of the year, steel reported, "There has been a low of import activity in the Midwest—Particularly in Chicago."

Importers have been offering cold rolled sheets laid down in the Chicago port at prices $5 to $22 a ton less than those quoted by Chicago steelmakers. Deliveries from European mills are being quoted at 60 to 90 days, but the range may drop to 45-60 days after the seaway opens."

Jack Ruby — He Killed a Man And Gave History a Big Riddle

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) —Jack Ruby killed more than a man. He killed a secret.

The bullet he fired Sunday, Nov. 24, 1963, while millions watched on television, destroyed Lee Harvey Oswald and gave history an unanswerable riddle.

Why was President John F. Kennedy assassinated?

A mountain of evidence—circumstantial though it is—points to Oswald as the killer. But before Oswald could begin to provide answers to the riddle, Ruby pushed his way into the picture and killed Oswald.

Why? There have been quick answers: he was insane with grief and killed impulsively to avenge the president. He killed to get publicity for himself and the strip joint he operated. He was part of a super-plot.

Ruby's behavior in jail indicates he may be troubled by the question, too. He apparently gives little thought to his fate.

"He talks, oh my, how he talks," says one of Ruby's visitors, "but not once have I heard him ask, 'What will happen to me.' He does ask, 'Do people approve of me?'"

"Just this week, he spoke with me nearly two hours, and over and over he talked about that Sunday morning. It was like hearing a man talking about something that didn't happen to him, as though he was trying to figure out to whom it did happen. He goes over every single detail, over and over, as though he is trying to learn something or find something."

One of his most frequent visitors is his sister, Eva Grant. Her visits are welcome, but decades of brother-sister bickering do not vanish easily. Something about a recent visit caused Mrs. Grant to recall that when they lived in San Francisco in the early 1930s, Ruby got so angry with her one night he fled their apartment complaining, "If this was my wife, I'd divorce her, but how can you divorce a sister?"

He doesn't herald her visits with the pride and satisfaction that he displays for some people, such as the rabbi of a substantial conservative synagogue in Dallas.

"Ah, see, you guys," he called out to jailers during a visit by Dr. Hillel Silverman of Congregation Shearith Israel, "I've got a classy visitor now."

Among others stamped classy by Ruby are the noted psychiatrist, Dr. Manfred Guttmacher of the University of Maryland and Johns Hopkins; Dr. Roy Schafer, a psychologist from Yale University; Melvin Belli, the handsome and articulate lawyer from San Francisco.

Belli heads Ruby's defense; Schafer has given Ruby a battery of tests, and Guttmacher has examined him psychiatrically.

Prison routine hasn't cooled Ruby's passion for keeping trim. With close to 185 pounds on his 5-foot-9 frame, he is stocky. But exercise keeps him solid. His thinning hair worries him.

He still swings between emotional extremes. Old Dallas acquaintances say "Ruby is the kind of guy who reads a newspaper and lives it. He reads about a kid getting polio or a dog getting run over, and he cries. The same way in a movie. If the good guy gets double-crossed, Ruby acts like it happens to him."

Most of all he worries about what people think of him.

"When he reads letters from people who tell him he did right, or otherwise compliment him," says one of his visitors, "his spirits go way up. He says he has had no mail from anyone criticizing him. Maybe they only give him the complimentary mail. I don't know."

"Class" is an important word to Ruby.

A source close to the prosecution says:

"Ruby is a class-conscious nobody who saw an opportunity to do something that would put him in the public eye and even make him a hero. He wasn't insane. He was rational. But he figured wrong. He's not a hero; he's a heel. Because of fouling up history."

The defense seems to agree too. Indications are it will try to show that Ruby's preoccupation with class not only was irrational but at certain times bordered on insanity.

It was the search for class that drew him to a soft-voiced, gentle woman who is now secretary to an insurance company executive.

"We went together most in 1955 and 1956," she says. "I was divorced then and my former husband has since passed away. Mr. Ruby and I talked often about marriage but we never became formally engaged. We began to drift apart and stopped seeing one another in 1959."

"He certainly was a gentleman to me. He was kind and considerate. Anything I would say about him would be nice. It was such a shock to me when he shot Oswald."

But for all his gentlemanly behavior, he still was a fast man with his fists. He broke his hand in 1958 hitting an obstreperous patron.

"Jack didn't like hecklers," says one of his strippers.

He was quick to tip police about shady characters, too. "Ruby was no stool pigeon, but he was damn good about tipping the cops about drunks or police characters," says a well-informed source in the district attorney's office.

Despite his readiness to scrap, Ruby stayed clear of serious trouble. There is no police record on him in Chicago or San Francisco. The only marks against him in Dallas are for after - hour sales of beer.

Mostly, he seemed preoccupied with his four dachshunds. He often called them "my children." He had a special place for his dogs behind the stage of the Carousel.

Taxpayers Asked Pay Bill For Firm's Family Spree

WASHINGTON (AP)—A California defense contractor which gave 12,000 employees and their families a free night of fun and games at Disneyland is asking the taxpayers to foot the bill.

Neither the Navy nor the firm, Aerojet General Corp., would say how much money was involved, but the Navy said no decision on the request is likely for some time.

Aerojet has extensive cost plus fixed fee contracts with both the Defense Department and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. And it included the cost of the employees' night out at Disneyland last Oct. 19 as an employee relations expenditure under its contract with the Navy.

A Navy spokesman said: "In the past Aerojet has been allowed to include the cost of a small annual picnic as overhead costs in their contracts. Such allowances, if any, are based on a test of reasonableness per armed forces procurement regulations."

"In the past the Navy has allowed certain employee relations costs in their contracts as a justified cost of doing business."

An Aerojet spokesman in New York said the Disneyland night took the place of the annual picnic because the firm's employment had grown to the point where it was difficult to find grounds for an outing.

"With Disneyland normally closed during the evening in the fall, but open to large groups at off-season rates, a visit there seemed to be a highly acceptable solution," he said, adding: "In fact, cost per attendee at Disneyland was less than the costs per attendee at the 1962 picnic in Brookside Park, Pasadena."

"The annual picnic in any case is considered by Aerojet to be a fringe benefit for its employees, just as medical insurance, vacations and holidays. The armed service procurement regulations provide for activities of benefit to employee morale."

Dems Reveal Strategy For LBJ To Carry Dixie

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two old senatorial friends of President Johnson appear to have unveiled the strategy by which he hopes to salvage some Southern electoral support while championing civil rights.

As it emerged in speeches Friday night by two leading Dixie senators — Richard B. Russell of Georgia and George A. Smathers of Florida — the formula pointed toward convincing Southerners:

—That they can blame any civil rights legislation that Congress may enact primarily on those whom Russell called "professional agitators."

—That they should retain loyalty to the Democratic party because the Republicans offer no better alternative.

Smathers put it this way at a party rally in Birmingham, Ala.:

"Either we stay with the party of the South, the party of our forefathers, the party that has brought prosperity to the people of America, or we seek consolation in the party of the Rockefeller and the Javitses. . . ."

Smathers linked his attack on the two New York Republicans, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javitses, with jibes at Sen. Barry Goldwater, like Rockefeller a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination.

Obviously not buying the party loyalty theme, Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace told the fund-raising dinner that Southern states should leave their presidential electors free to vote for someone other than the national party nominee.

Russell told a Valdosta, Ga., audience that he was sorry to have to say that he has no doubt that Johnson "intends to throw the full weight of his powerful office and the full force of his personality — both of which are considerable" — into the drive to get civil rights legislation passed.

The Georgia senator said Johnson, "understandably, is undertaking to make a record that he can take to the people next November in the brief time that he has available."

He predicted that "professional agitators" would put tremendous pressure on Congress for civil rights action. In this effort, Russell said he couldn't distinguish "between the Rockefeller-Nixon wing of the Republican party and the ADA-minded members of my own party."

The ADA is Americans for Democratic Action, which espouses liberal causes.

A Grim Battle before Dawn

By STEVE ERICKSON
(For Hal Boyle)

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—My postman, milkman and garbage man are waging a grim war of nerves with me. They are cunning adversaries.

The garbage man dislikes getting up early, and he hates garbage. In his profession, however, he is required to rise with the rooster.

Sometimes after he rattles empty cans for a while a light flicks on inside a house and an eyeball stares out.

I peeped through our blinds one morning, and he seemed happy at an audience. He performs once a week.

A little later — too late for breakfast — the milkman shows up. His mind is not on milk and cottage cheese. He is a wrong item-leaver. And quick on the getaway.

Our milkman leaves the richest blend of creamy milk instead of the skim milk we order. This makes my wife unhappy. It makes her husband fat. It makes our milkman chuckle as he drives away.

The ZIP code confuses our postman. He delivers our mail to the neighbors. I don't suppose they like getting our bills any more than we appreciate theirs.

My wife explains that he is trying to get the neighbors acquainted with each other. She calls him an unforgettable character.

"He's trying to bring warmth into our lives," she says.

I've tried everything. One night I taped a note to the garbage can lid requesting more gentle handling. A monumental din awoke me the following morning. Either our garbage man does not read, or he does not heed.

I was waiting when our milkman arrived. My wife had persuaded me to a diplomatic approach.

These overtures turned into a partisan analysis of the Rose Bowl football game. When our milkman left, our skim milk left with him. Two quarts of eggnog and some large curd cottage cheese remained on our porch.

I went afield in search of our postman. I spotted a letter carrier two blocks away, sweet-talking a neighbor's dog which had given me some hard times.

When I approached, the dog snorted and quit bothering the postman who grinned gratefully.

I skirted diplomatic preambles and told him we had been getting everyone's mail but our own. I told him the neighbors were getting our mail. He offered his sympathies.

"What is your address?" I told him.

"That's not on my route," he said. "Old Limpy delivers your mail."

"To the neighbors," I said.

When I got back home Old Limpy already had been there and left two envelopes. They were addressed to us.

One was a garbage bill. The other was a milk bill.

I went to the kitchen and mixed a stiff drink — of eggnog.

The Business World

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson has painted a glowing picture of future business, but says it depends on whether there is a cut in income taxes.

His qualified prediction that 1964 will be a year of soaring prosperity came in his annual economic message to Congress.

Meanwhile, an $11.5-billion tax-reduction bill received final approval in the Senate Finance Committee on Thursday and indications were that the House-approved measure could reach the Senate floor by the end of the week or on Feb. 3.

The stock market apparently liked what it heard from the President. It spurred to another historic high.

Here's what Johnson had to say about the economy:

Gross national product—total of all goods and services—Topped the $600-billion annual rate for the first time during the final quarter of 1963 and is expected to hit $623 billion in 1964.

Personal income—Attained an average per capita of $2,500 in 1963 for an after-tax total of $500 billion; expected to increase by $8.8 billion.

Corporate profits — Totaled $51.3 billion and, after taxes, $25 billion; an increase is expected.

Employment — Exceeded 70 million with an unemployment rate of 5.5 per cent of the labor force; the unemployment rate is expected to drop to 5 per cent.

Despite the bullish optimism, predictions, Johnson made it plain he was not satisfied.

"New high ground is not the summit," he said. "That still lies ahead. Our 1961-63 advance—though impressive, sustained and noninflationary — has not gone far enough and fast enough."

He included in his message a price-cut proposal by his Council of Economic Advisers. They singled out the automobile industry as a possible area.

Coupled was a suggestion that in certain industries the overtime pay rate be boosted as a means of spurring an increase in jobs.

The automobile industry was silent on the price-cut suggestions, and some labor leaders said they couldn't see how higher overtime pay would result in more jobs.

Johnson followed up his economic message with his budget message, calling for a $97.9-billion expenditure in the fiscal year beginning July 1 and halving the deficit of the current year.

Democrats hailed the proposed budget as a realistic effort at cutting down expenditures. Republicans contended it was full of gimmicks.

The automobile and steel industries continued to forge ahead.

Automakers turned out an estimated 178,500 passenger cars, up 12 per cent from the 158,905 assembled the previous week and up 18 per cent from the 151,416 of a year ago.

Steel production climbed by 5 per cent during the week, reaching 2,130,000 tons against 2,120,000 tons the previous week. For the first three weeks of this year output was ahead of a year ago by 10.2 per cent.

The nation's stockholders in 1963 reaped a record harvest of $16.2 billion in dividends, the Commerce Department reported. This was 7.5 per cent higher than the $15.1 billion paid in 1962 by corporations issuing public reports. Big boosts were made by automobile, oil and machinery companies.

The total of 'burgers consumed in the U. S. last year was more than 34 billion. Amazing that there was enough mustard to go around.

A Haifa, Israel, housewife was fined for socking her husband with a can of dill pickles. Just another sour note in the news.

To the Editor:

Are we guilty of "talk about talking too much, acting too much, acting too little, but taking no action?"

Surgeon General Luther Terry, chief of the U. S. Public

Health Service, said in receiving the recent report on smoking: "... the committee has reached the over-all judgment that cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant remedial action." In one state alone last year 493 cases of lung cancer were treated.

Almost all citizens in and around Circleville fear the dreadful disease of cancer. We want to see this disease wiped out, we say. Well, there is a part each of us can do — if we will but do it.

Every day in the city of Circleville we can see our youth smoking on public streets as well as elsewhere. There is a state law which prohibits the sale, giving or furnishing of tobacco in any form to any person 18 years of age or younger.

Do we care if 8 to 10 years of life is taken away from our children and youth, and that they may die with lung cancer? If one of our banks were repeatedly robbed wouldn't we demand stronger law enforcement?

Do we feel the above mentioned law is enforced strongly enough? Then I think it is time we citizens stopped "talk about talking too much, acting too little and take some action."

A Grim Battle before Dawn

By STEVE ERICKSON
(For Hal Boyle)

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—My postman, milkman and garbage man are waging a grim war of nerves with me. They are cunning adversaries.

The garbage man dislikes getting up early, and he hates garbage. In his profession, however, he is required to rise with the rooster.

Sometimes after he rattles empty cans for a while a light flicks on inside a house and an eyeball stares out.

I peeped through our blinds one morning, and he seemed happy at an audience. He performs once a week.

A little later — too late for breakfast — the milkman shows up. His mind is not on milk and cottage cheese. He is a wrong item-leaver. And quick on the getaway.

Our milkman leaves the richest blend of creamy milk instead of the skim milk we order. This makes my wife unhappy. It makes her husband fat. It makes our milkman chuckle as he drives away. The ZIP code confuses our postman. He delivers our mail to the neighbors. I don't suppose they like getting our bills any more than we appreciate theirs.

My wife explains that he is trying to get the neighbors acquainted with each other. She calls him an unforgettable character.

"He's trying to bring warmth into our lives," she says.

I've tried everything. One night I taped a note to the garbage can lid requesting more gentle handling. A monumental din awoke me the following morning. Either our garbage man does not read, or he does not heed.

I was waiting when our milkman arrived. My wife had persuaded me to a diplomatic approach.

These overtures turned into a partisan analysis of the Rose Bowl football game. When our milkman left, our skim milk left with him. Two quarts of eggnog and some large curd cottage cheese remained on our porch.

I went afield in search of our postman. I spotted a letter carrier two blocks away, sweet-talking a neighbor's dog which had given me some hard times.

When I approached, the dog snorted and quit bothering the postman who grinned gratefully.

I skirted diplomatic preambles and told him we had been getting everyone's mail but our own. I told him the neighbors were getting our mail. He offered his sympathies.

"What is your address?" I told him.

"That's not on my route," he said. "Old Limpy delivers your mail."

"To the neighbors," I said. When I got back home Old Limpy already had been there and left two envelopes. They were addressed to us.

One was a garbage bill. The other was a milk bill. I went to the kitchen and mixed a stiff drink — of eggnog.

The Business World

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson has painted a glowing picture of future business, but says it depends on whether there is a cut in income taxes.

His qualified prediction that 1964 will be a year of soaring prosperity came in his annual economic message to Congress.

Meanwhile, an $11.5-billion tax-reduction bill received final approval in the Senate Finance Committee on Thursday and indications were that the House-approved measure could reach the Senate floor by the end of the week or on Feb. 3.

The stock market apparently liked what it heard from the President. It spurred to another historic high.

Here's what Johnson had to say about the economy:

Gross national product—total of all goods and services—Topped the $600-billion annual rate for the first time during the final quarter of 1963 and is expected to hit $623 billion in 1964.

Personal income—Attained an average per capita of $2,500 in 1963 for an after-tax total of $500 billion; expected to increase by $8.8 billion.

Corporate profits—Totalled $51.3 billion and, after taxes, $25 billion; an increase is expected.

Employment—Exceeded 70 million with an unemployment rate of 5.5 per cent of the labor force; the unemployment rate is expected to drop to 5 per cent.

Despite the bullish optimistic predictions, Johnson made it plain he was not satisfied.

"New high ground is not the summit," he said. "That still lies ahead. Our 1961-63 advance—though impressive, sustained and noninflationary—has not gone far enough and fast enough."

He included in his message a price-cut proposal by his Council of Economic Advisers. They singled out the automobile industry as a possible area.

Coupled was a suggestion that in certain industries the overtime pay rate be boosted as a means of spurring an increase in jobs.

The automobile industry was silent on the price-cut suggestions, and some labor leaders said they couldn't see how higher overtime pay would result in more jobs.

Johnson followed up his economic message with his budget message, calling for a $97.9-billion expenditure in the fiscal year beginning July 1 and halving the deficit of the current year.

Democrats hailed the proposed budget as a realistic effort at cutting down expenditures. Republicans contended it was full of gimmicks.

The automobile and steel industries continued to forge ahead.

Automakers turned out an estimated 178,500 passenger cars, up 12 per cent from the 158,905 assembled the previous week and up 18 per cent from the 151,416 of a year ago.

Steel production climbed by 5 per cent during the week, reaching 2,130,000 tons against 2,120,000 tons the previous week. For the first three weeks of this year output was ahead of a year ago by 10.2 per cent.

The nation's stockholders in 1963 reaped a record harvest of $16.2 billion in dividends, the Commerce Department reported. This was 7.5 per cent higher than the $15.1 billion paid in 1962 by corporations issuing public reports. Big boosts were made by automobile, oil and machinery companies.

The average American ate 182 hamburgers in 1963, twice as many as 25 years ago, reports a restaurant chain. Begins to look like what started out as a between-meals snack has become the main dish.

The total of 'burgers consumed in the U. S. last year was more than 34 billion. Amazing that there was enough mustard to go around.

A Haifa, Israel, housewife was fined for socking her husband with a can of dill pickles. Just another sour note in the news.

A wild boar wandering onto the field broke up a French soccer football match. Our guess is that the porker just couldn't see why he shouldn't join in on a pigskin game.

Sun rays were utilized to trigger an explosive to break ground for a new Houston, Tex., building. That's getting started with a bang!

New York now has 191 colleges and universities, we read. That puts the Empire State in a class, or rather, classes—by itself.

EDITORS NOTE—We welcome letters to the editor. They must be signed by the writer with a complete return address. However the name and address will not be used in the published letter upon request of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

To the Editor:
Are we guilty of "talk about talking too much, acting too much, acting too little; but taking no action?"

Surgeon General Luther Terry, chief of the U. S. Public

Health Service, said in receiving the recent report on smoking: "... the committee has reached the over-all judgment that cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant remedial action." In one state alone last year 493 cases of lung cancer were treated.

Almost all citizens in and around Circleville fear the dreadful disease of cancer. We want to see this disease wiped out, we say. Well, there is a part each of us can do — if we will but do it.

Every day in the city of Circleville we can see our youth smoking on public streets as well as elsewhere. There is a state law which prohibits the sale, giving or furnishing of tobacco in any form to any person 18 years of age or younger.

Do we care if 8 to 10 years of life is taken away from our children and youth, and that they may die with lung cancer? If one of our banks were repeatedly robbed wouldn't we demand stronger law enforcement?

Do we feel the above mentioned law is enforced strongly enough? Then I think it is time we citizens stopped "talk about talking too much, acting too little and take some action."

Try and Stop Me

HETTY GREEN, famed "witch of Wall Street," was one of the richest women in the world when she died—also one of the stingiest and most detested. Arthur Lewis tells the whole story superbly in his book, "The Day They Shook the Plum Tree."

Hetty Green dressed in rags, slept in cold-water flats, ate leftover scraps, and begged for free office space—so she could go on adding to the millions she already had stashed away. Worse still, she denied her son medical aid—so he was doomed to go through life a cripple.

When his mother died, the son, Col. E. H. Green, proceeded to squander millions on patent medicines and such indulgences as an ocean-going yacht, which he ignored when he found that it made him seasick, and which gave him his first pleasure when it turned turtle and sank. He—and his only sister—derived as little real happiness from their great fortune as had their mother Hetty. Figure the moral for yourselves.

Returned home from the Christmas holidays, a blithe young bachelor found two notes awaiting him. One, from a prosperous girl friend was in his mailbox. It read, "There was no answer when I rang, so I left your Christmas gift in the mail chute." The second note was in the mail chute. It read, "Thanks a million for the wonderful bottle of Scotch. (Signed) Your Mail Man."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Upper respiratory infections like the common cold, the gripe, virus infections and the flu resemble each other sufficiently to make them often indistinguishable to the patient.

Fever, "malaise" (a general feeling of weakness), achiness of the bones and muscles, sore throat, swollen glands in the neck... all of these can be characteristic of most of these illnesses. That is why self-diagnosis can at best be speculative and self-treatment haphazard.

There is another disease that is sometimes confused with this group: infectious mononucleosis. The self-diagnosis of mononucleosis seems to induce unnecessary anxiety. Familiarly called "mono," the term is often loosely applied to a condition that is probably an ordinary cold.

Mononucleosis is a distinct disease that occurs frequently during the winter among college students, nurses, medical students and interns. It has never been adequately explained why these groups are particularly affected, yet it has constantly been noted that they have been since first the illness was described in 1920.

Symptoms during the early stages of acute infectious mononucleosis really do resemble those of the "upper respiratory group" of diseases. Later, some other distinguishing characteristics become apparent. The glands in the neck, armpits and groin may become enlarged, while the feeling of weakness progresses.

Usually, the disease runs a self-limiting, uncomplicated course and lasts about six weeks. Probably the greatest distinction of the condition is the feeling of prostration and fatigue which persists even after the acute symptoms seem to have disappeared.

The need for rest after the acute phase is nature's defense mechanism to keep patients from returning prematurely to full activity.

"Mononucleosis" should not be applied indiscriminately to an illness because it sounds "sporty" or more socially acceptable than the runny-nose cold.

Only when the diagnosis is definitely established by the doctor should it be so labeled. Then it becomes part of the personal medical history, for at future times this information may be important.

The positive test for mononucleosis is a blood test called the "heterophile agglutination." However, this is sometimes elusive, and repeated tests are necessary to show the presence or the increase in the "heterophile level."

As special symptoms occur, they are treated by medication. Antibiotics are relatively valueless against mononucleosis itself. They are used with discretion by the doctor only to avoid or prevent secondary complications of the disease.

A lingering sense of weakness may persist, sometimes for months, and deserves the special indulgence of added rest, careful diet and supplementary vitamins. Recurrences of mononucleosis are so rare that when they do occur, doctors are apt to question the validity of the original diagnosis.

Infectious mononucleosis is a special disease with special diagnostic requirements. Although it is not essentially a serious disease, it does need a lot of pampering. Only when the diagnosis is definite does it deserve the name of "mono."

An Imaginary Wrong

By John Chamberlain

I heard it on a ski slope. A woman was talking about the Panama crisis. "All right," she said, "if there's going to be justice, we ought to give Panama back to Colombia."

The person who said this was obviously no great student of international affairs. But she had exposed the pretentious grievance of President Roberto F. Chiari of Panama, who has attempted to make the world believe that the U. S. somehow tore the Canal Zone from the unwilling and defenseless Panamanians back in the days when gunboats were the approved instrument of big power diplomacy.

The truth of the matter is that as Theodore Roosevelt said, we did "take" the Canal, but not from Panama. The Panamanians, indeed, were hand in glove with us in the seizure, which involved a quid pro quo that Roberto Chiari has failed to mention. The deal was worked out under President Roosevelt's complainant nose, with a New York international lawyer, William Nelson Cromwell, and a fantastic Frenchman, Philippe Bunau-Varilla, conniving to set things up for a group of Panamanian conspirators who wished to free their isthmus country from the control of the distant Colombian capital of Bogota.

There is no history of this transaction that is satisfactory, for all of the principals involved in it had much to gain from hiding what they did. All we know is that Cromwell and Bunau-Varilla, as representatives of the company which had taken over the interests of the old French canal company of De Lesseps, "arranged" for the Panama revolt. The U. S. did its part by dispatching warships to the isthmus to see to it that no troops from Colombia would be landed. The Colombian government unable to support its token garrisons in Panama, managed by firing a shell from the sea to kill a donkey and a completely neutral civilian, but otherwise the "revolution" went off without a hitch. The price of U. S. recognition of the new Panamanian nation was "use, occupation, and control" in "perpetuity" of a canal zone strip across the isthmus.

So everything was fair and square between the U. S. and Panama. As between the U. S. and Colombia, that is another story. We virtually admitted our injustice towards the Colombians by paying them a $25 million indemnity during President Wilson's Administration.

Now if the Colombians were to stand up in some international forum — say the UN — and complain that $25 million was hardly sufficient to pay them for the loss of their province of Panama and the right to control the building of a canal, there might be some justification in ethics for it. But for the Panamanians, who owe their existence as a nation to the United States, to pose as a grievously wronged party is a little too much.

Anyway, this business of appealing to ancient wrongs which have been wiped off the books by time and past retribution is being vastly overdone all around the world, and it is time that everybody took a stand against it. Manhattan can't be given back to the Indians. In this connection, we would like to single out the American novelist, Allen Drury, for praise as a pioneer stand-taker. His UN story, "A Shade of Difference," published in 1962, was startlingly prophetic of the present Panama crisis. For central to the plot of that novel was the conniving of one Felix Labaiya — Sofra, a fictional ambassador of Panama to the U. S. In Mr. Drury's story Senor Labaiya cooks up a UN resolution which puts the U. S. on the spot with all the "freedom-loving" nations of the world. He does this in violation of UN procedure, explaining to his wife that "you can get the UN to do whatever you want to do if you just present it with something loudly enough and insist that it act." He had learned this, he said, from the Russians.

Labaiya's grievance against the United States, as expressed in Drury's story, is the same as that expressed by the Panamanian President, Roberto Chiari, a grievance based on an imaginary wrong. It's not a case of life copying art, it's a case of Drury having foresight. Why not get him into the State Department as an adviser?

Stocks Climb To New Peaks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market the past week advanced against some heavy profit taking and pushed the averages to their highest levels in history. Trading simmered down to 26.3 million shares from 30.6 million in the previous week when the highest level since June 1962 was reached. Turnover remained active, however, and Wall Streeters continued to notice increased signs of public participation. Although some of the recent high flyers were knocked down considerably, this did not lead to general selling, as some prophets thought it might. The anti-inflationary aspects of President Johnson's economic message to Congress accompanied a fairly sharp decline on Monday. After some further weakness early on Tuesday, blue chips spearheaded a recovery drive which put the averages well ahead even though more stocks fell than rose in the entire list. From that point on, however, the averages and the advance-decline figures were in gear. The market rose moderately on balance for three straight days, making record highs in the popular averages every day. The Dow Jones industrial average last week rose 7.35 to 783.04, its all-time closing peak. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.6 to 291.6, its record closing high. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index stood at a record of 77.11 as the week ended. Trading sentiment was aided toward the end of the week by completion of work on the tax-cut bill by the Senate Finance Committee. For the week, of 1,508 issues traded, 698 advanced and 629 declined. Such issues as American Telephone, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Radio Corp., Sears Roebuck, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad posted new highs for 1963-'64. In the case of AT&T they were all-time highs. The five most active issues last week on the New York Stock Exchange were Chrysler, off 1/4 at 40 on 908,600 shares; Xerox, off 6/8 at 83; Sperry Rand, unchanged at 20 1/2; American Telephone, up 1/4 at 145 1/4; and Helene Curtis, up 5 at 39 1/4.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Jan. 27, the 27th day of 1964. There are 339 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1656, the French religious philosopher, Blaise Pascal, published the first series of his "provincial letters." They are written in defense of Antoine Arnauld against the Jesuits.

On this date: In 1756, composer Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart was born in Salzburg, Austria.

In 1880, inventor Thomas Alva Edison was awarded the first patent for the incandescent lamp.

In 1914, President Woodrow Wilson issued an executive order establishing permanent civil government in the Panama Canal Zone.

In 1928, the dirigible "Los Angeles" became the first aircraft to land on an aircraft carrier.

In 1945, U.S. forces under Gen. George Patton Jr. drove the Germans in Belgium and Luxembourg to within one mile of the Siegfried Line during World War II.

Ten years ago—Premier Yoshida called on the Japanese people to undergo temporary austerity to make their nation self-sustaining.

Five years ago—Soviet Premier Khrushchev said Russian successes in space rocketry had shifted the balance of world power to the Socialist camp and predicted that economic success would have the same result.

One year ago—France notified the United Nations it would not pay its 1963 share of principal and interest on UN bonds authorized to meet deficits on UN military operations in the Congo and Middle East.

HOUSEGUESTING—Lucy Johnson, 16, lets out a laugh as she and Jack Olson, 18, stroll along in Madison, Wis., where he is a student at the University of Wisconsin. President Johnson's daughter is Olson's between-semester guest, chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. James Kain of Rochester, Minn. The Kains are friends of the Johnsons.

Microorganisms are growing over the magnificent paintings created by Cro-Magnon artists 20,000 years ago on the walls of Lascaux Cave in France.

Egypt, Recalling Suez, Cheers Panama

CAIRO (AP)—When President Gamal Abdel Nasser seized the Suez Canal and precipitated a world crisis in 1956, some nervous voices in the West wailed: the Panama Canal will be next.

These voices, largely inspired by business and maritime interests in Paris and London, contended the Egyptians could not run the Suez Canal anyway, and they sought American backing for a tough go at Nasser. The American government refused, and the ensuing British-French military invasion of the Suez turned into a political disaster.

Against this background, and now having run their canal successfully, the Egyptians are open partisans of Panama in its fight to wrest the Panama Canal from Washington's control. "Nationalism has at last caught up with the Panamanian people and they are now ready to exercise their right of sovereignty over the canal just as the Egyptian people did in 1956. And unless the United States recognizes this and learns from the lessons of 1956, there can only be more trouble and bloodshed ahead in Panama," said the Egyptian Gazette. The comment was typical.

The histories of the Suez and Panama canals, the world's most important man-made waterways, have been intertwined since the beginning. Both were largely conceived by a French diplomat, engineer and dreamer, Ferdinand de Lesseps. De Lesseps was gloriously successful in Egypt. The 10-year construction project was celebrated in November 1869 by a gala opening of the Suez Canal, with the French Empress Eugenie taking the first official 104-mile ride through the "world's richest ditch" linking the Mediterranean with the Red Sea and Indian Ocean. The celebrations went on and on to a climax at the premiere of the specially commissioned Giuseppe Verdi opera "Aida" at the newly built Cairo Opera House. De Lesseps' Panama venture was inglorious. He headed the French company attempting the first Panama Canal. By 1888 the effort collapsed and De Lesseps was even condemned for misappropriating money, though he never went to prison.

In Panama, the French engineer encountered problems wholly different from those of the sea-level Suez Canal—for one the necessity of cutting through mountains and hoisting ships across a continental divide through locks. Panama's endemic yellow fever also had to be overcome—as it was later by the Americans—and the breed of Latin-American politician to be dealt with differed from the Egyptian types.

It is worth an historical footnote that if De Lesseps had succeeded in Panama the present issue of sovereignty possibly would not have arisen. The United States concedes "titular sovereignty" to Panama in the Canal Zone but claims control rights in perpetuity under the 1903 canal treaty. Unlike the old Suez pact between a private company and a government, the Panama issue is between government and government.

De Lesseps' ventures, though backed by European governments, were private. His company obtained concessions. In addition, in the case of Suez, the concession was for a fixed period of 99 years—in contrast to the Panama clause covering perpetual control of the zone.

Old Red-Tainted Prague Both Sad and Charming

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—Prague is like a beautiful woman who is making the best of a reluctant marriage.

She can look sad or tired but she can also radiate charm.

The street lights barely flicker on Wenceslas Square. The smell of burned gasoline and diesel fuel hangs heavy in the air. Soft-coal soot is everywhere and the only traffic is a trickle of Soviet-built Pobeda taxis, ancient Czech Tatras and diplomats' cars. The scene is dark and eerie.

To feel Prague's magic you have to survey the snow-covered Old Town from Hradcany Castle after a fresh snowfall or walk across Charles Bridge in the early morning. Here her centuries don't show, and the wear and tear of the first, hard years under communism registers the least.

It's 15 years since she was pushed into the arms of communism. She no longer entertains any girlish notions of running away but she tries to make her life as pleasant as possible.

She has an opera that ranks with the best in the world, a flourishing string of big and little theaters and a night life that compares favorably with those in any but the most outgoing cities of Western Europe.

The years of exposure to the East have left their traces. Mingled with her Western tradition, they leave Prague a city of contrasts.

They're selling Soviet ice cream, Cuban shirts and Bulgarian cigarettes.

At the Tuxex stores you can get West German tape recorders, Italian cars and French perfumes—if you have special coupons bought with Western currency.

And, of course, there are many homegrown products—Prague ham, Pilsener beer, plum brandy and handicrafts from Slovakia.

There's an exhibition of Soviet photographs on Wenceslas Square and you can buy recordings of Russian folk songs almost everywhere.

But at the Lucerna Bar the number that really sends them is "When the Saints Go Marching In." Young couples twist nightly until 3 a.m.

Cruelty to Animals Trial Due Wednesday

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Tufts' trial on 11 counts each of cruelty to animals has been moved up from Feb. 13 to next Wednesday. Warren County Common Pleas Court Judge Warren Young changed the trial date Saturday when Mrs. Elsie Mary Bradbury who lives close to the Tufts' farm near Waynesville, obtained a search warrant saying there was a dead horse on the farm. The charges against the Tufts were filed last month after authorities found 43 dead sheep and hogs on the farm and said other animals were near starvation.

Stocks Climb To New Peaks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market the past week advanced against some heavy profit taking and pushed the averages to their highest levels in history. Trading simmered down to 26.3 million shares from 30.6 million in the previous week when the highest level since June 1962 was reached.

Turnover remained active, however, and Wall Streeters continued to notice increased signs of public participation. Although some of the recent high flyers were knocked down considerably, this did not lead to general selling, as some prophets thought it might.

The anti-inflationary aspects of President Johnson's economic message to Congress accompanied a fairly sharp decline on Monday. After some further weakness early on Tuesday, blue chips spearheaded a recovery drive which put the averages well ahead even though more stocks fell than rose in the entire list.

From that point on, however, the averages and the advance-decline figures were in gear. The market rose moderately on balance for three straight days, making record highs in the popular averages every day.

The Dow Jones industrial average last week rose 7.35 to 783.04, its all-time closing peak. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.6 to 291.6, its record closing high. Standard & Poor's 500 - stock index stood at a record of 77.11 as the week ended.

Trading sentiment was aided toward the end of the week by completion of work on the tax-cut bill by the Senate Finance Committee.

For the week, of 1,508 issues traded, 698 advanced and 629 declined.

Such issues as American Telephone, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Radio Corp., Sears Roebuck, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad posted new highs for 1963-64. In the case of AT&T they were all-time highs.

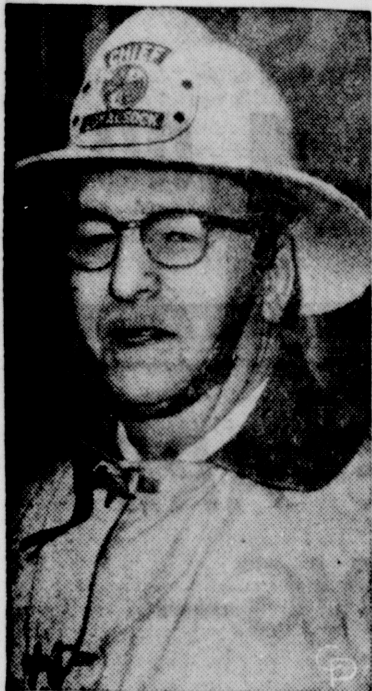

The five most active issues last week on the New York Stock Exchange were Chrysler, off 1/4 at 40 on 908,600 shares; Xerox, off 6/8 at 83; Sperry Rand, unchanged at 20 1/4; American Telephone, up 1/4 at 145 1/4; and Helene Curtis, up 5 at 39 1/4.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Jan. 27, the 27th day of 1964. There are 339 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1656, the French religious philosopher, Blaise Pascal, published the first series of his "provincial letters." They are written in defense of Antoine Arnauld against the Jesuits.

On this date: In 1756, composer Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart was born in Salzburg, Austria.

In 1880, inventor Thomas Alva Edison was awarded the first patent for the incandescent lamp.

In 1914, President Woodrow Wilson issued an executive order establishing permanent civil government in the Panama Canal Zone.

In 1928, the dirigible "Los Angeles" became the first airship to land on an aircraft carrier.

In 1945, U.S. forces under Gen. George Patton Jr. drove the Germans in Belgium and Luxembourg to within one mile of the Siegfried Line during World War II.

Ten years ago—Premier Yoshida called on the Japanese people to undergo temporary austerity to make their nation self-sustaining.

Five years ago—Soviet Premier Khrushchev said Russian successes in space rocketry had shifted the balance of world power to the Socialist camp and predicted that economic success would have the same result.

One year ago—France notified the United Nations it would not pay its 1963 share of principal and interest on UN bonds authorized to meet deficits on UN military operations in the Congo and Middle East.

Egypt, Recalling Suez, Cheers Panama

CAIRO (AP)—When President Gamal Abdel Nasser seized the Suez Canal and precipitated a world crisis in 1956, some nervous voices in the West wailed: the Panama Canal will be next.

These voices, largely inspired by business and maritime interests in Paris and London, contended the Egyptians could not run the Suez Canal anyway, and they sought American backing for a tough go at Nasser. The American government refused, and the ensuing British-French military invasion of the Suez turned into a political disaster.

Against this background, and now having run their canal successfully, the Egyptians are open partisans of Panama in its fight to wrest the Panama Canal from Washington's control. "Nationalism has at last caught up with the Panamanian people and they are now ready to exercise their right of sovereignty over the canal just as the Egyptian people did in 1956. And unless the United States recognizes this and learns from the lessons of 1956, there can only be more trouble and bloodshed ahead in Panama," said the Egyptian Gazette. The comment was typical.

The histories of the Suez and Panama canals, the world's most important man-made waterways, have been intertwined since the beginning. Both were largely conceived by a French diplomat, engineer and dreamer, Ferdinand de Lesseps.

De Lesseps was gloriously successful in Egypt. The 10-year construction project was celebrated in November 1869 by a gala opening of the Suez Canal, with the French Empress Eugenie taking the first official 104-mile ride through the "world's richest ditch" linking the Mediterranean with the Red Sea and Indian Ocean. The celebrations went on and on to a climax at the premiere of the specially commissioned Giuseppe Verdi opera "Aida" at the newly built Cairo Opera House.

De Lesseps' Panama venture was inglorious. He headed the French company attempting the first Panama Canal. By 1888 the effort collapsed and De Lesseps was even condemned for misappropriating money, though he never went to prison.

In Panama, the French engineer encountered problems wholly different from those of the sea-level Suez Canal — for one the necessity of cutting through mountains and hoisting ships across a continental divide through locks. Panama's endemic yellow fever also had to be overcome—as it was later by the Americans—and the breed of Latin-American politician to be dealt with differed from the Egyptian types.

It is worth an historical footnote that if De Lesseps had succeeded in Panama the present issue of sovereignty possibly would not have arisen. The United States concedes "titular sovereignty" to Panama in the Canal Zone but claims control rights in perpetuity under the 1903 canal treaty. Unlike the old Suez pact between a private company and a government, the Panama issue is between government and government.

De Lesseps' ventures, though backed by European governments, were private. His company obtained concessions. In addition, in the case of Suez, the concession was for a fixed period of 99 years—in contrast to the Panama clause covering perpetual control of the zone.

Old Red-Tainted Prague Both Sad and Charming

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—Prague is like a beautiful woman who is making the best of a reluctant marriage.

She can look sad or tired but she can also radiate charm.

The street lights barely flicker on Wenceslas Square. The smell of burned gasoline and diesel fuel hangs heavy in the air. Soft-coal soot is everywhere and the only traffic is a trickle of Soviet-built Pobeda taxis, ancient Czech Tatra and diplomats' cars. The scene is dark and eerie.

To feel Prague's magic you have to survey the snow-covered Old Town from Hradcany Castle after a fresh snowfall or walk across Charles Bridge in the early morning. Here her centuries don't show, and the wear and tear of the first, hard years under communism register the least.

It's 15 years since she was pushed into the arms of communism. She no longer entertains any girlish notions of running away but she tries to make her life as pleasant as possible.

She has an opera that ranks with the best in the world, a flourishing string of big and little theaters and a night life that compares favorably with those in any but the most outgoing cities of Western Europe.

The years of exposure to the East have left their traces. Mingled with her Western tradition, they leave Prague a city of contrasts.

They're selling Soviet ice cream, Cuban shirts and Bulgarian cigarettes.

At the Tuzex stores you can get West German tape recorders, Italian cars and French perfumes—if you have special coupons bought with Western currency.

And, of course, there are many homegrown products — Prague ham, Pilsener beer, plum brandy and handicrafts from Slovakia.

There's an exhibition of Soviet photographs on Wenceslas Square and you can buy recordings of Russian folk songs almost everywhere.

But at the Lucerna Bar the number that really sends them is "When the Saints Go Marching In." Young couples twist nightly until 3 a.m.

Cruelty to Animals Trial Due Wednesday

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Tufts' trial on 11 counts each of cruelty to animals has been moved up from Feb. 13 to next Wednesday. Warren County Common Pleas Court Judge Warren Young changed the trial date Saturday when Mrs. Elsie Mary Bradbury who lives close to the Tufts' farm near Waynesville, obtained a search warrant saying there was a dead horse on the farm.

The charges against the Tufts were filed last month after authorities found 43 dead sheep and hogs on the farm and said other animals were near starvation.

Average Woman in U.S. Wears 767 Pairs of Hose

Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

Although most husbands would bet their wives put holes in 700 pairs of stockings a year, the truth, according to an expert in such matters, is that the average gal will wear out about that number in a lifetime — 767 pairs. As you might have guessed, our expert is a man, for, after all, who pays more attention to a gal's gams?

He's Lowell Wilkin, president of a hosiery company which helped introduce silk stockings to American women about half a century ago. The company has some 15,000 dealers offering nylons to millions of women directly in their homes.

Today's gals, he says, start wearing sheer hose at about age 11 and daddy pays for two pairs a year on the average. But the bill goes up gradually until age 17, when it levels off to an average of 13 pairs annually. Thereafter, the only hope for Dad is to transfer the bills to a husband. If the average woman lives her average life span of 72 years, that means 767 pairs of stockings.

If you are running over this average, something's wrong. Wilkin has some suggestions for cutting down on your stocking bills.

Diamonds may be a gal's best friend, he says, but they are not on speaking terms with your stockings. Their sharp points snag stockings, causing runs. Take 'em off when donning or removing your stockings.

And girls, watch your cigarettes — hot ashes dropped on your nylons will send them to the hosiery graveyard, pronto.

Sit down when fastening front and side girdle garters, stand to fasten the back garter. This allows for better knee action and contributes to longer stocking life. And for heaven's sake, make certain to fasten the garters on the welt of

Mrs. Denham Feted at Farewell Tea

Mrs. Enid Denham, librarian for the Pickaway County District Public Library, was honored with a farewell tea in the home of Mrs. Milford Tassler, Knollwood Village.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Gerald Harrell, Mrs. Robert Hendricks, Mrs. Carl Heffelfinger, Mrs. Hewitt Harmont, Mrs. David Edwards, Mrs. Edward Sward, and Mrs. Harold Whitfield.

Approximately 30 friends and members of the Circleville Branch of the American Assn. of University Women were present.

A blue color theme was used in the decorating, highlighted with arrangements of spring flowers.

Compacts are death on nylons.

the hose, not the seam.

Nylons, he says, are much like girls — responsive to a tender squeeze, not to a bear hug. So, when rinsing stockings, squeeze 'em lovingly, don't twist or wring.

Compact cars are death on nylons. If you own one of those low-slung jobs, be careful how you squat getting in and out. Tilt slightly and slide in gently. Or, try driving bare-legged — but Wilkin shudders at that suggestion.

Mineed onion and dill pickle added to mayonnaise make a quick tartare-type sauce to serve with fish.

Washability Is Stressed In New Toys

By ELEANOR ROSS

On riffling through toy catalogues, we note that an outstanding theme is washability, no matter how elaborate or costly the toy. Whether it's a large picture puzzle or a big blonde doll with braids and a handsome wardrobe, the manufacturer stresses that it is washable.

Not so many years ago, a parent was torn between a toy sure to delight a child and one which would be safe for the youngster to own. For unless a toy can be washed with soap and water, it just isn't going to stay clean — not with the working over it gets if the child takes to it.

No doll or stuffed animal, especially, can be expected to lead a sanitary life. In the process of being enjoyed, it gathers dust, sticky finger marks and, in warm weather, mud and sand and grime from outside.

None of these things is catastrophic, provided the doll, teddy bear or whatever can be washed as soon as possible. It is much pleasanter for all concerned, if a favorite toy can be permitted in the crib as well as in the playpen.

These days, conscientious toy manufacturers stick to fabrics, materials and stuffings which are safe in suds, and colors that are harmless. And most toys are designed to make washing as easy as possible.

There is no tragedy in a small child's life quite so poignant as having a beloved toy taken away — just because it is too dirty to be a suitable playmate any longer.

Toddlers and toys bring to mind also, one way of keeping the child happy. Turn the floor of his room into a picture book.

It's so easy! Many new nursery rugs and floor tiles picture such favorite fairy tale characters as Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, Leo the Lion, various cartoon animals and — for small boys — vintage automobiles. The small rugs are washable — just pop 'em in the washing machine. The tiles, of course, can be suds-mopped as often as necessary.

Know your peas and beans! A - cup serving of green beans, a 1/4 - cup serving of lima beans, and a 1-3-cup serving of green peas each count for 50 calories.

Dear Abby: Betwixt and Between!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I can't eat any thing that has garlic in it. It makes me violently ill. Over the years I have been invited frequently to dine at the home of a long-time friend. She knows I can't eat anything with garlic in it, but every time I am there she has garlic in practically everything. When she sees me take a whiff and then pass something up, she says, "Oh, I forgot!" The last time this happened I lost my temper and replied, "After 22 years?" She then said, "I can't cook a special meal for you. Besides, everyone else seems to like my cooking." I don't want to end my friendship with her because she entertains nicely and has some very interesting guests (artists and musicians). So how should I handle this problem in the future?

HATES GARLIC
DEAR HATES: Your friend obviously doesn't care to go to extra trouble for you. Either decline her dinner invitations and accept for "later," or ask permission to bring a box lunch.

DEAR ABBY: I read in the paper where a man in California said that women who wore slacks on the street should be fined. You tell him to go jump in the lake! Women don't look any worse in slacks than men look in Bermuda shorts. Some have knobby knees, and others are bow-legged and as hairy as apes. I am a 59 year-old woman with arthritis, and my doctor told me to keep my legs warm, so I wear slacks every chance I get. And anybody who doesn't like it doesn't have to look. Sign me —

WARM AND COMFY
DEAR WARM: I am sure that there is no objection to "slacks" that are properly tailored. The man who complained may have been referring to those "stretch pants" that look as though they had been put on with a spray gun.

DEAR ABBY: If men are really not more important in the sight of God, why then in all Biblical references is the MAN always mentioned first when speaking of father and mother?

BIBLE STUDENT
DEAR STUDENT: This is not true. Although the Ten Commandments say, "Honor thy FATHER and mother," in Leviticus, Chapter XIX, Verse 3, it enjoins every man to fear (revere) his MOTHER and his father.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DAIRY FARMER IN WISCONSIN": She sounds like a milker. Butter up the udder one.

85 CENTS APIECE—Leo Phillips runs silver dollars through his hands in his Chicago liquor store, where he is selling them at reduced prices. "I offered them for 90 cents, one to a customer, but they didn't go so well," he said. "Then I reduced the price to 88 cents, and now they're going to 85 cents." He's selling 800 of them.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

It was a bright moon-lit night over Ohio Sunday, with the only cloudiness near the Ohio River.

Marietta, with 34, was the only place reporting above freezing. Temperatures were near 20 at Toledo, Findlay, Cleveland and Akron.

An area of cloudiness and snow flurries developing to the northwest of Ohio may move through the state this afternoon, but temperatures are expected to reach the mid-30s.

Cloudiness and snow flurries may persist into tonight and Thursday, but skies are expected to clear except in the extreme northeast by Tuesday afternoon.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO—Temperatures will average near to four degrees above normal. Normal high 34-36, normal low 18-21. Colder Tuesday and Wednesday, warmer Thursday through Saturday. Precipitation will average two-tenths to four-tenths of an inch melted as scattered snow flurries tonight and Tuesday and snow towards end of week.

SOUTHERN AND CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average near normal. Normal high 35-46, normal low 21-27. Only minor daily temperature changes expected. Possibly rain or snow by midweek, more likely near weekend.

On riffling through toy catalogues, we note that an outstanding theme is washability, no matter how elaborate or costly the toy. Whether it's a large picture puzzle or a big blonde doll with braids and a handsome wardrobe, the manufacturer stresses that it is washable.

Not so many years ago, a parent was torn between a toy sure to delight a child and one which would be safe for the youngster to own. For unless a toy can be washed with soap and water, it just isn't going to stay clean — not with the working over it gets if the child takes to it.

No doll or stuffed animal, especially, can be expected to lead a sanitary life. In the process of being enjoyed, it gathers dust, sticky finger marks and, in warm weather, mud and sand and grime from outside.

None of these things is catastrophic, provided the doll, teddy bear or whatever can be washed as soon as possible. It is much pleasanter for all concerned, if a favorite toy can be permitted in the crib as well as in the playpen.

These days, conscientious toy manufacturers stick to fabrics, materials and stuffings which are safe in suds, and colors that are harmless. And most toys are designed to make washing as easy as possible.

There is no tragedy in a small child's life quite so poignant as having a beloved toy taken away — just because it is too dirty to be a suitable playmate any longer.

Toddlers and toys bring to mind also, one way of keeping the child happy. Turn the floor of his room into a picture book.

It's so easy! Many new nursery rugs and floor tiles picture such favorite fairy tale characters as Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, Leo the Lion, various cartoon animals and for small boys—vintage automobiles. The small rugs are washable — just pop 'em in the washing machine. The tiles, of course, can be suds-mopped as often as necessary.

Dear Abby: Betwixt and Between!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I can't eat anything that has garlic in it. It makes me violently ill. Over the years I have been invited frequently to dine at the home of a long-time friend. She knows I can't eat anything with garlic in it, but every time I am there she has garlic in practically everything. When she sees me take a whiff and then pass something up, she says, "Oh, I forgot!" The last time this happened I lost my temper and replied, "After 22 years?" She then said, "I can't cook a special meal for you. Besides, everyone else seems to like my cooking." I don't want to end my friendship with her because she entertains nicely and has some very interesting guests (artists and musicians). So how should I handle this problem in the future?

HATES GARLIC
DEAR HATES: Your friend obviously doesn't care to go to extra trouble for you. Either decline her dinner invitations and accept for "later," or ask permission to bring a box lunch.

DEAR ABBY: I read in the paper where a man in California said that women who wore slacks on the street should be fined. You tell him to go jump in the lake! Women don't look any worse in slacks than men look in Bermuda shorts. Some have knobby knees, and others are bow-legged and as hairy as apes. I am a 59 year-old woman with arthritis, and my doctor told me to keep my legs warm, so I wear slacks every chance I get. And anybody who doesn't like it doesn't have to look. Sign me—

WARM AND COMFY

DEAR WARM: I am sure that there is no objection to "slacks" that are properly tailored. The man who complained may have been referring to those "stretch pants" that look as though they had been put on with a spray gun.

DEAR ABBY: If men are really not more important in the sight of God, why then in all Biblical references is the MAN always mentioned first when speaking of father and mother?

BIBLE STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT: This is not true. Although the Ten Commandments say, "Honor thy FATHER and mother," in Leviticus, Chapter XIX, Verse 3, it enjoins every man to fear (revere) his MOTHER and his father.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DAIRY FARMER IN WISCONSIN": She sounds like a milkier. Butter up the udder one.

85 CENTS APIECE—Leo Phillips runs silver dollars through his hands in his Chicago liquor store, where he is selling them at reduced prices. "I offered them for 90 cents, one to a customer, but they didn't go so well," he said. "Then I reduced the price to 88 cents, and now they're going to 85 cents." He's selling 800 of them.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

It was a bright moon-lit night over Ohio Sunday, with the only cloudiness near the Ohio River.

Marietta, with 34, was the only place reporting above freezing. Temperatures were near 20 at Toledo, Findlay, Cleveland and Akron.

An area of cloudiness and snow flurries developing to the northwest of Ohio may move through the state this afternoon, but temperatures are expected to reach the mid-30s.

Cloudiness and snow flurries may persist into tonight and Thursday, but skies are expected to clear except in the extreme northeast by Tuesday afternoon.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO—Temperatures will average near to four degrees above normal. Normal high 34-36, normal low 18-21. Colder Tuesday and Wednesday, warmer Thursday through Saturday. Precipitation will average two-tenths to four-tenths of an inch melted as scattered snow flurries tonight and Tuesday and snow towards end of week.

SOUTHERN AND CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average near normal. Normal high 35-46, normal low 21-27. Only minor daily temperature changes expected. Possibly rain or snow by midweek, more likely near weekend.

TV Cagers Again Master SCO Unit; Trip WCH, 72-49

By STEVE JONES

The Teays Valley Vikings continued their domination over South Central Ohio League teams Saturday night, defeating a visiting Washington C.H. quintet, 72-49.

In other games with SCO teams, the Vikings have downed Circleville, 75-72; Miami Trace, 69-66; Greenfield, 77-68 and Pleasant View, 51-50.

It was the 12th straight win for the Russ Gregg coached cagers this season.

Saturday, the Vikings led 18-10 at the end of the first period, taking control of the tilt at an early stage. They trailed the Blue Lions only briefly in the early minutes of the first period.

BY HALFTIME the winners were on top 37-23. The big difference in the first interlude was the Vikings' superiority in rebounding.

They pulled down 19 defensive and three offensive rebounds for a total of 22. The Blue Lions fared a little better offensively, grabbing eight, but they could master only seven off the defensive boards.

The Viking defense forced Washington to take many of their shots from well outside.

The end of the third period saw the score standing at 53-37. In the final eight minutes the host team outscored the visitors, 19-12.

Dave Reese paced the Teays Valley offense with 21 points, coming on seven field goals and seven charity tosses. Bill Fortner scored 20 on eight field goals and four free throws while Bob Kuhlwein tallied 17 points.

High for the Court House cagers were Bob Wilson and Tom Townsend. Each scored 10 points.

AT THE foul line, the Vikings hit 20 of 29 attempts while the losers hit 13 of 26. The officials charged the Vikings with 18 personals and the visitors with 16.

From the field, Teays Valley hit 26 of 63 shots. The Blue Lions made good on only 18 of 76.

Teays Valley has three games remaining on its schedule, not including an alumni game Feb. 7.

Saturday the Vikings host Williamsport in what should be a top local cage attraction. On Feb. 8 Fairfield Union will invade the Viking gymnasium and on Feb. 14 they will play at Logan Elm.

The young Vikings had little difficulty winning Saturday. The final score was 59-35 in the jayvee tilt.

Loyola Cage Gold Rush Slows Down

2 Consecutive Defeats To Hurt Team's Rating

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The golden year of basketball at Loyola of Chicago might wind up gold-plated.

The glittering Ramblers began the season—the 50th anniversary of the start of intercollegiate basketball at the school—as the NCAA champions. With four of their five starters returning, the Ramblers were conceded to have one of the nation's top teams again.

The past week, though, has slowed the gold rush at Loyola to a stroll. Wichita, one of the two teams which beat the champions in 31 games last season, handed the Ramblers their second consecutive defeat 80-76 Saturday night.

Coupled with last Monday's 83-65 loss to Memphis State, the latest setback undoubtedly will drop Loyola from its number three ranking to near the bottom of the top ten and possibly out of it altogether.

Ironically, Loyola was the only losing top ten team Saturday night. Second-ranked Michigan downed Michigan State 91-77; unbeaten Davidson, No. 4, kept rolling 105-73 against Wofford; and Kentucky, rated fifth, knocked over Georgia Tech 79-62.

Seventh-ranked Villanova overwhelmed Penn 72-48; Duke, No. 8, squeezed by Tennessee 67-65 after two overtimes, and Oregon State, tied for 10th with Wichita, whipped Stanford 65-57.

UCLA, the nation's No. 1 team; sixth-ranked Vanderbilt and unbeaten DePaul, ninth, didn't play.

The Wheatshockers added to Loyola's problems with acute accuracy from the foul line. After the Ramblers tied the game 63-63 with seven minutes remaining, Wichita dropped in 13 straight free throws. Hunter led all scorers with 36 points while Dave Stallworth had 29 for Wichita.

Michigan's Wolverines increased their Big Ten mark to 5-0 and its over-all record to 14-1 as sophomore Cazzie Russell tallied 34 points. Michigan led by only 40-38 at halftime, but pulled away from Michigan State in the second half.

Fred Hetzel sparked Davidson to its 15th straight triumph. He scored 29 points and snared 21 rebounds, two more than the entire Wofford team.

Kentucky avenged an earlier loss to Georgia Tech but needed two quick baskets from Terry Mobley for insurance late in the second half. The Yellow Jacks, who led at the half 39-37, fell behind 61-48. Then they rallied and sliced the Wildcats' lead to seven points. That's when Mobley hit his clutch field goals.

In other games, Utah State whipped Brigham Young 105-90. Wyoming downed Denver 65-56. Ohio State defeated Purdue 98-87. Illinois beat Arizona State 97-78 and St. Louis edged Cincinnati 78-76.

Memphis State knocked off Mississippi State 81-66. Houston nosed out Baylor 61-60. Texas Western downed West Texas State 61-53. St. Bonaventure whipped Pan American 84-77 and Pitt walloped Army 86-64. Duquesne defeated Xavier of Ohio 83-76 Sunday.

The 5-foot-4, 124-pound Thomas equalled the world indoor three-mile record in 13:26.4 while Baillie finished the two-mile in 8:31.9, just 1.2 seconds off the record.

Jones, the Detroit veteran who now has won 49 consecutive indoor hurdles events, rushed to a 5.9 time over four hurdles and 50 yards in Toronto, breaking his own world record of six seconds flat.

The barrel-chested Hayes, competing in Albuquerque, ran a six second flat 60-yard dash, equalling the record.

In Winnipeg, Tom Robinson of the Bahamas, established a world record for the rarely-run 300-meters, finishing in 35 seconds flat. Other top performances there included a 61-2 shot put by Parry O'Brien of Pasadena and Bill Crother's 1:09.7 run in the 600 yards.

Ralph Boston scored a double in the Oregon meet, winning the 60-yard hurdles in 7.3 and the broad jump with 25-8.

Top performances in Toronto also included 16-foot pole vaults by John Pennel of Northeast Louisiana State and Jeff Chase, Santa Clara, Calif.; a 2:08.3 effort in the 1,000 yards by Crothers and a 1:12.3 600 by George Kerr of Jamaica.

Three Toronto girls, Cathy Chapman, Nancy McCredie and Abie Hoffman, established women's indoor records. The pert Miss Chapman ran the women's 50 yard hurdles in 6.7, Miss McCredie tossed the shot 52-11 and Miss Hoffman ran the half mile in 2:11.9.

Perennial Powerhouse Of Ohio Cage Faltering

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Bearcats, Bucks and Bee-Gees, perennial powerhouses of Ohio basketball, are losing their luster.

Cincinnati, winner of the Missouri Valley crown the last six seasons, and twice NCAA champion and once runner-up in the last three years, has dropped three straight in the classy circuit and has 5-0 Wichita to face Thursday on the foreign floor. The Bearcats are 2-3 in the league and 9-6 overall.

Ohio State, seeking its fifth straight Big Ten championship, is 3-1 in the conference but is 8-6 overall.

And Bowling Green, winner of the rugged Mid-American crown three of the last four years, is 5-6 for the season and out of the conference fight with a 2-4 record.

In six Missouri Valley campaigns, the Bearcats had won 71 and lost 8 up to this year, never losing more than two in a season. But this time they've bowed to Bradley, Drake and St. Louis in a row, the latter winning 78-76 Saturday night.

Overall, the 'Cats had a 135-13 record the last five years—by far the best in the country. Ohio State was second over that stretch with 109-21. The Bucks had lost only 10 in the last four campaigns against 98 victories.

second with 5-2 by smothering Kent State 81-44.

Akron eased into second place in the Ohio Conference with a 7-2 mark, just behind idle Wittenberg's 7-1, as the Zippers nipped Mount Union 31-22 and then came back for a 64-52 nod over Marietta.

Youngstown needed an overtime to trim Buffalo 66-64 for the Penguins' 14th straight and the state's only unblemished mark. Central State with 14-2 and John Carroll with 7-1 are deadlocked for second—all the others having lost at least in a Sunday game. Xavier lost to Duquesne, 83-76.

Williamsport high school basketball team experienced its coldest night of the season at Bishop Flaget Saturday, losing 53-44 to the defensive minded hosts.

Flaget lost three games early in the year, but now has an overall record of 13-3. They are second in the Ross County league at present.

The usually potent Williamsport offense saw only Larry Beard score in double figures. He hit four field goals and seven charity tosses for 15 points.

Rick Fenstermaker sustained a knee injury early in the week during a scrimmage and played less than one quarter at Chillicothe. He scored only four points.

GLENN CHESTER, coach of the Deers, said Fenstermaker will sit out Tuesday's encounter with Frankfort.

Dick Cooke scored 19 points for the winners to come up with high point laurels. Lindsey added 12.

The Deers trailed all the way. The score was 9-7 at the end of the first period and 21-14 at halftime. Going into the final period they were behind 41-24.

They finally came to life in the fourth period, but it was too late. For the game they hit 14 of 60 field goal attempts for a cool 23 per cent. At the foul line they connected on 16 of 27.

The Deers pulled down 32 rebounds while their opponents grabbed 33 off the boards.

Bishop Flaget used a zone defense, while the Deers utilized a man-to-man press in an attempt to get the lead in the ball game.

"WE GOT THE shots inside", Chester said after the tilt, "but it was just one of those nights. The boys were even missing the easy bunny shots."

The reserve tilt went the same way as the varsity game with Newsome scoring 27 points as the Bishop Flaget jayvee unit downed the visitors, 57-33.

Thursday the Deers play at Ohio Deaf and Saturday travel to Teays Valley for a game that promises to be of top interest to local fans. Larry Beard, Williamsport's 6-4 pivot man, played for Teays Valley last year.

The Vikings currently own a 12-game winning streak.

That $400 in fines Baltimore Coach Bob Leonard levied against Walt Bellamy lowered his salary but raised his average.

Bellamy, fined $200 on each of two occasions earlier this month, has scored 166 points in a five-game spurt for a 33.2 average. And the Bullets have turned into the hottest team in the National Basketball Association with five consecutive victories.

Bellamy scored 42 points and grabbed 22 rebounds while Gus Johnson contributed 29 points and 21 rebounds as Baltimore rolled to a 131-120 triumph over Philadelphia Sunday. It was the highest point total reached by the Bullets in two years in the NBA.

In other games, Tom Heinsohn and Sam Jones led Eastern Division-leading Boston to a 115-102 victory over New York, Western Division—leading Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 108-96 and St. Louis edged Detroit 106-104 on Cliff Hagan's basket with three seconds remaining.

Philadelphia's 76ers led briefly in the first half but Bellamy and Johnson pulled the Bullets into a 50-all tie, then led a 13-point spurt that put it out of reach. John Kerr and Dave Gambee led the 76ers with 22 and 20 points, respectively.

In Saturday's games, Bellamy scored 25 points in Baltimore's 115-99 victory over Cincinnati, San Francisco walloped Los Angeles 120-95. St. Louis defeated Detroit 107-98 and Philadelphia edged New York 131-129.

Tiger Rally Falls Short, Miami Trace 71-65 Victor

By DAVID AMEY

The Circleville High School cagers — 1-13 overall and 1-7 in league play — journeyed to Miami Trace Saturday night and were whipped by the Panthers, 71-65, in a tilt which could have gone either way.

The Tigers were the victims of their own overagerness. They outshot MT from the floor, 28-22, but lost the game at the charity stripe.

The Miami Tracers committed 13 fouls and the Tigers capitalized for nine points — a respectable number. But CHS was charged with 29 fouls and the Panthers cashed in on 27 for 37 for 71 per cent.

The Tigers started Chet Iery and John Thomas at the forward slots. Bob Purcell and Ronnie Seward at the guard positions and Tom Smith at center.

THE PANTHERS starters included Mike Doyle and Pirley Harris as guards, Bob Smith and Don Huffman at forward and David McKee under the basket.

CHS got off to a slow start, hitting only 5 of 19 attempts in the first quarter to 8 of 16 for the Panthers. The score at the start of the second period was 19-12 in favor of MT.

In the second period, the Tigers canned 8 of 20 shots while Miami Trace managed 8 of 21. At intermission MT had headed the local charges by 10, 39-29.

During the first half, the Tigers managed a cool 33 per cent from the field. Thomas was high man at the half with eight points on four field goals.

Statistics on the Panthers for the first half were impressive. They hit 43 per cent from the field in the first two periods.

David McKee paced the Panther scoring attack in the initial half. The big center connected on five field goals and seven free throws for 17 points.

Pearl Harris also had a good first half. The sharpshooting guard scorched the nets for 12 points.

CIRCLEVILLE entered the third period as a completely different squad. This also proved to be true for the Panthers.

With 2:45 remaining in the period, sub Jim Conley hit the first and only Panther field goal for the third canto. The Miami Tracers tried 17 shots during this quarter.

Circleville tied the tilt at 45-45 with 0:50 left to play as John Maxwell used his deadly eye to sink two free throws. Then, just as the period was coming to a close, Ronnie Seward, playing a terrific floor game, stole the ball and added a lay-up to put the Tigers ahead 47-45 for the first and only time in the game. CHS canned seven of 13 shots in that eight minutes of play.

Miami Trace started the last canto with a basket by Dan Huffman that tied the tilt at 47 all. Harris swiped the ball and scored a layup, and three charity tosses were marked up before the Tigers could manage a score.

Again it was Ronnie Seward who grabbed the ball and scored on a jump shot from the key. His tally came with 5:56 remaining and left the Tigers down by three, 52-49.

Harris scored on a patented jump shot for MT and Doug Roth carded two charity tosses for the Tigers to keep the scoring balanced. Huffman was fouled and hit on the one-and-one bonus for two points to leave the Tigers down by five, 56-51.

RON SEWARD added another jumper with 4:06 left and John Thomas scored a tip-in later in the canto to draw the Tigers within one point, 58-57. But then the Panthers started a route. Huffman and Smith recorded field goals which left the Tigers down by five, 62-57.

Tom Tootle entered the game for the first time for the Tigers and swished the nets with a 30-foot jumper from the corner with 3:02 left. The dead-eye forward added another two points seconds later from the same spot. But the Panther's McKee scored on two free throws to widen the gap once again.

With the score 64-59 and 1:22 left, Thomas hit a jumper but it was too late to stop the Panthers. They ended the game by cashing in on seven foul shots while the Tigers managed two field goals.

John Thomas paced the Tiger scoring attack. The junior jumper swished 10 field goals and a free throw for 21 markers.

Ronnie Seward perhaps played his best game for the Tigers. He sported an excellent floor game and ripped the nets for seven field goals and a free throw for 15 points.

John Maxwell, playing in the last three quarters, scored eight points on three from the field and two foul shots.

Tom Smith added six points. Roth canned five markers. Tootle and Purcell notched four and Chet Iery added two.

HARRIS and David McKee tied Thomas for high game honors. Harris carded eight field goals and five free throws for 21 points and McKee sank five field goals and 11 charity tosses for 21.

Huffman reared 14 points for MT. Smith added nine, Doyle carded four and Conley hit a field goal.

For the tilt, CHS managed a better shot percentage than did Trace. The Tigers scored on 23 of 60 for 46 per cent from the floor. The Panthers hit 22 of 39 for 31 percent.

Former Ohio Trotter Cops Paris Test

PARIS (AP)—American-bred Nike Hanover was the Cinderella star of Europe today after coming off with the $100,000 Grand Prix d'Amerique-Europe's richest test for harness racers.

The 81-1 long shot came home Saturday in the international classic with a swift time of 3:25.1 for the 1 1/4 miles. Nisos H was second and Norland D was third.

The victory earned Nike Hanover and German driver Hans Fromming an invitation to next July's United Nations Trot at the Yonkers Raceway.

Nike Hanover had an undistinguished career in the United States before being sold in 1962 to Italian sportsman Lamberto Bergama of Bologna. The horse had been owned by Don Millar of Columbus, Ohio, vice president of the U. S. Trotting Association.

Nike Hanover whipped not only the best trotters in Europe but three American stars—Porterhouse, Elaine Rodney and Duke Rodney.

Dick Groat, St. Louis Cardinal shortstop, lashed out 43 doubles during the 1963 baseball season.

Circleville Wrestling Team Places 5th at Pleasant View

The Circleville High School wrestling team finished fifth in the eight-team Pleasant View Invitational wrestling tournament Saturday with 34 team points.

The event was won by a strong Upper Arlington team with 115 points. The host school, Pleasant View, was second with 54, West had 47 and Franklin Heights 39.

Grove City was behind the Tigers with 29 and Grandview and University each had 14.

Howard Fletcher was the lone Circleville champion. In his preliminary bout, the Tiger heavyweight pinned Jaffa of University in 47 seconds. He came back to pin Jones of Upper Arlington in 49 seconds in his second match and decided Moore of West High School, 1-0, in the championship bout.

MOORE was undefeated going into the match.

Jim Butts and Pedro Kuhn, the 103 and the 112-pound wrestlers for Circleville, both lost by pins in their first matches.

In the 120-pound Class Charlie Martin decided Freeman of University, 7-6. He was pinned by Eichoff of Upper Arlington in the second match and then lost the consolation bout, 7-4, to Hammons of Franklin Heights.

Junior Tootle pinned Clark of Grandview in his first match, and was then decided by Davis of Franklin Heights. In the consolation of the 127-pound class, Tootle was decided 2-1 in an overtime by Franks of Pleasant View.

Tom McDonald was decided, 6-5, by Mathias in his first match. Glen Easterday lost to Johnson of West, 6-0, and Fred Rickney was defeated, 6-2, by Tyne of Grandview in the 133, the 138 and the 145 classes.

In the 154 pound class Joe List decided Wiley of Grandview, 3-2. He sustained a slight rib injury in his initial encounter, and although he was leading 2-1 in his second match, Tiger coach Dave LaBounty pulled his 154 wrestler when he felt the injury was endangered. List lost by default.

JOHN PHARR pinned previously undefeated Knight of Grove City in 3:45 of the 165 pound class. It was the first win for Pharr.

However, he lost the second match 6-2 to Miller of University and then was decided 5-0 by Rikel of Pleasant View.

Duke Fyffe drew a bye in the first round, and then lost to Long of Franklin Heights, 7-2. In the consolation, he decided Bond of Grandview, 4-3.

Indoor Track Records Fall

Olympic Hopefuls Prep for Tokyo

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A flock of indoor track and field records—most of the obscure variety—were broken or tied in four weekend meets as Olympic hopefuls from many nations heightened their preparations for Tokyo, only to have the thunder stolen by a couple of Down Under distance men.

Tiny Albie Thomas of Australia, who equalled the three-mile mark in Toronto Friday, and New Zealand's Bill Baillie, who just missed the two-mile record in Portland Saturday, were the stars of the indoor circuit despite the record efforts of sprinter Bob Hayes and veteran hurdler Hayes Jones.

The 5-foot-4, 124-pound Thomas equalled the world indoor three-mile record in 13:26.4 while Baillie finished the two-mile in 8:31.9, just 1.2 seconds off the record.

Jones, the Detroit veteran who now has won 49 consecutive indoor hurdles events, rushed to a 5.9 time over four hurdles and 50 yards in Toronto, breaking his own world record of six seconds flat.

The barrel-chested Hayes, competing in Albuquerque, ran a six second flat 60-yard dash, equalling the record.

In Winnipeg, Tom Robinson of the Bahamas, established a world record for the rarely-run 300-meters, finishing in 35 seconds flat. Other top performances there included a 61-2 shot put by Parry O'Brien of Pasadena and Bill Crother's 1:09.7 run in the 600 yards.

Ralph Boston scored a double in the Oregon meet, winning the 60-yard hurdles in 7.3 and the broad jump with 25-

The Teays Valley Vikings continued their domination over South Central Ohio League teams Saturday night, defeating a visiting Washington C.H. quintet, 72-49.

In other games with SCO teams, the Vikings have downed Circleville, 75-72; Miami Trace, 69-66; Greenfield, 77-68 and Pleasant View, 51-50.

It was the 12th straight win for the Russ Gregg coached cagers this season.

Saturday, the Vikings led 18-10 at the end of the first period, taking control of the tilt at an early stage. They trailed the Blue Lions only briefly in the early minutes of the first period.

BY HALFTIME the winners were on top 37-23. The big difference in the first interlude was the Vikings' superiority in rebounding.

They pulled down 19 defensive and three offensive rebounds for a total of 22. The Blue Lions fared a little better offensively, grabbing eight, but they could master only seven off the defensive boards.

The Viking defense forced Washington to take many of their shots from well outside.

The end of the third period saw the score standing at 53-37. In the final eight minutes the host team outscored the visitors, 19-12.

Dave Reese paced the Teays Valley offense with 21 points, coming on seven field goals and seven charity tosses. Bill Portner scored 20 on eight field goals and four free throws while Bob Kuhlwein tallied 17 points.

High for the Court House cagers were Bob Wilson and Tom Townsend. Each scored 10 points.

AT THE foul line, the Vikings hit 20 of 29 attempts while the losers hit 13 of 26. The officials charged the Vikings with 18 personals and the visitors with 16.

From the field, Teays Valley hit 26 of 63 shots. The Blue Lions made good on only 18 of 76.

Teays Valley has three games remaining on its schedule, not including an alumni game Feb. 7.

Saturday the Vikings host Williamsport in what should be a top local cage attraction. On Feb. 8 Fairfield Union will invade the Viking gymnasium and on Feb. 14 they will play at Logan Em.

The young Vikings had little difficulty winning Saturday. The final score was 59-35 in the jayvee tilt.

Loyola Cage Gold Rush Slows Down

2 Consecutive Defeats To Hurt Team's Rating

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The golden year of basketball at Loyola of Chicago might wind up gold-plated.

The glittering Ramblers began the season—the 50th anniversary of the start of intercollegiate basketball at the school—as the NCAA champions. With four of their five starters returning, the Ramblers were conceded to have one of the nation's top teams again.

The past week, though, has slowed the gold rush at Loyola to a stroll. Wichita, one of the two teams which beat the champions in 31 games last season, handed the Ramblers their second consecutive defeat 80-76 Saturday night.

Coupled with last Monday's 83-65 loss to Memphis State, the latest setback undoubtedly will drop Loyola from its number three ranking to near the bottom of the top ten and possibly out of it altogether.

Ironically, Loyola was the only losing top ten team Saturday night. Second-ranked Michigan downed Michigan State 91-77; unbeaten Davidson, No. 4, kept rolling 105-73 against Wofford; and Kentucky, rated fifth, knocked over Georgia Tech 79-62.

Seventh - ranked Villanova overwhelmed Penn 72-48; Duke, No. 8, squeezed by Tennessee 67-65 after two overtimes, and Oregon State, tied for 10th with Wichita, whipped Stanford 65-57.

UCLA, the nation's No. 1 team; sixth-ranked Vanderbilt and unbeaten DePaul, ninth, didn't play.

The Wheatshockers added to Loyola's problems with acute accuracy from the foul line. After the Ramblers tied the game 63-63 with seven minutes remaining, Wichita dropped in 13 straight free throws. Hunter led all scorers with 36 points while Dave Stallworth had 29 for Wichita.

Michigan's Wolverines increased their Big Ten mark to 5-0 and its over-all record to 14-1 as sophomore Cazzie Russell tallied 34 points. Michigan led by only 40-38 at halftime, but pulled away from Michigan State in the second half.

Fred Hetzel sparked Davidson to its 15th straight triumph. He scored 29 points and snared 21 rebounds, two more than the entire Wofford team.

Kentucky avenged an earlier loss to Georgia Tech but needed two quick baskets from Terry Mobley for insurance late in the second half. The Yellow Jacks, who led at the half 39-37, fell behind 61-48. Then they rallied and sliced the Wildcats' lead to seven points. That's when Mobley hit his clutch field goals.

In other games, Utah State whipped Brigham Young 105-90; Wyoming downed Denver 65-56; Ohio State defeated Purdue 98-87; Illinois beat Arizona State 97-78 and St. Louis edged Cincinnati 78-76.

Memphis State knocked off Mississippi State 81-66; Houston nosed out Baylor 61-60; Texas Western downed West Texas State 61-53. St. Bonaventure whipped Pan American 84-77 and Pitt walloped Army 86-64. Duquesne defeated Xavier of Ohio 83-76 Sunday.

Ex-Engineer Grabs Top Bowling Prize

DALLAS (AP)—Bob Strampe, winner of the $15,000 men's championship in the All-Star bowling tournament, became a professional bowler after he was fired from his job as an aeronautical engineer.

Strampe, who now lives in Detroit, had taken a long week-end to compete in the American Bowling Congress tournament in St. Louis in 1959.

Then came an unexpected long distance telephone call from his boss in Minneapolis. His advice, Strampe recalls, was:

"Bowl good, because you are not working here any more."

Strampe, then 27 and newly married, decided to turn to the only other thing he knew—bowling.

Since that fateful decision the slender, balding Strampe has become a top ranking pro with an annual income he says is around $15,000.

The Don Carter family of St. Louis won another All-Star trophy.

This time it was Laverne Carter who took the $5,000 championship check. Her husband, four-time All-Star champion, coached his high-kicking blonde wife from a box seat during the finals. He had been eliminated from the tournament before the semifinals.

Perennial Powerhouse Of Ohio Cage Faltering

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Bearcats, Bucks and Bee-Gees, perennial powerhouses of Ohio basketball, are losing their luster.

Cincinnati, winner of the Missouri Valley crown the last six seasons, and twice NCAA champion and once runner-up in the last three years, has dropped three straight in the classy circuit and has 5-0 Wichita to face Thursday on the foreign floor. The Bearcats are 2-3 in the league and 9-6 overall.

Ohio State, seeking its fifth straight Big Ten championship, is 3-1 in the conference but is 8-6 overall.

And Bowling Green, winner of the rugged Mid-American crown three of the last four years, is 5-6 for the season and out of the conference fight with a 2-4 record.

In six Missouri Valley campaigns, the Bearcats had won 71 and lost 8 up to this year, never losing more than two in a season. But this time they've bowed to Bradley, Drake and St. Louis in a row, the latter winning 78-76 Saturday night.

Overall, the 'Cats had a 136-113 record the last five years—by far the best in the country. Ohio State was second over that stretch with 109-21. The Bucks had lost only 10 in the last four campaigns against 98 victories.

GARY BRADDS

Ohio State clung to its slim hopes Saturday by trimming Purdue 98-87 as All - America Gary Bradds poured in 47 points for an arena record and just one behind the all-time school mark of 48 set by Jerry Lucas against Michigan State. Bradds was taken out with just under three minutes to play, missing further chance at Big Luke's mark.

With the nation's top scorer, Manny Newsome, on the sidelines with an injured hand, Western Michigan lost 95-69 to Ohio University in a futile Broncho bid to take over the Mid-American loop leadership. Western Michigan had beaten the Bobcats 95-93 earlier, with Newsome getting 39.

The victory left the Athens team atop the league standings with 5-1, and Miami moved into

Bellamy Pay Cut But His Average Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
That $400 in fines Baltimore Coach Bob Leonard levied against Walt Bellamy lowered his salary but raised his average.

Bellamy, fined $200 on each of two occasions earlier this month, has scored 166 points in a five-game spurt for a 33.2 average. And the Bullets have turned into the hottest team in the National Basketball Association with five consecutive victories.

Bellamy scored 42 points and grabbed 22 rebounds while Gus Johnson contributed 29 points and 21 rebounds as Baltimore rolled to a 131-120 triumph over Philadelphia Sunday. It was the highest point total reached by the Bullets in two years in the NBA.

In other games, Tom Heinsohn and Sam Jones led Eastern Division—leading Boston to a 115-102 victory over New York, Western Division—leading Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 108-96 and St. Louis edged Detroit 106-104 on Cliff Hagan's basket with three seconds remaining.

Philadelphia's 76ers led briefly in the first half but Bellamy and Johnson pulled the Bullets into a 50-all tie, then led a 13-point spurt that put it out of reach. John Kerr and Dave Gambee led the 76ers with 22 and 20 points, respectively.

In Saturday's games, Bellamy scored 25 points in Baltimore's 115-99 victory over Cincinnati, San Francisco walloped Los Angeles 120-95, St. Louis defeated Detroit 107-98 and Philadelphia edged New York 131-129.

second with 5-2 by smothering Kent State 81-44.

Akron eased into second place in the Ohio Conference with a 7-2 mark, just behind idle Wittenberg's 7-1, as the Zippers nipped Mount Union 31-22 and then came back for a 64-52 nod over Marietta.

Youngstown needed an overtime to trim Buffalo 66-64 for the Penguins' 14th straight and the state's only unblemished mark. Central State with 14-2 and John Carroll with 7-1 are deadlocked for second—all the others having lost at least in a Sunday game. Xavier lost to Duquesne, 83-76.

Williamsport Downed by Flaget, 53-44

Deers Suffer Coldest Offensive Night of Season at Chillicothe

The Williamsport high school basketball team experienced its coldest night of the season at Bishop Flaget Saturday, losing 53-44 to the defensive minded hosts.

Flaget lost three games early in the year, but now has an overall record of 13-3. They are second in the Ross County league at present.

The usually potent Williamsport offense saw only Larry Beard score in double figures. He hit four field goals and seven charity tosses for 15 points.

Rick Fenstermaker sustained a knee injury early in the week during a scrimmage and played less than one quarter at Chillicothe. He scored only four points.

GLENN CHESTER, coach of the Deers, said Fenstermaker will sit out Tuesday's encounter with Frankfort.

Dick Cooke scored 19 points for the winners to come up with high point laurels. Lindsey added 12.

The Deers trailed all the way. The score was 9-7 at the end of the first period and 21-14 at halftime. Going into the final period they were behind 41-24.

They finally came to life in the fourth period, but it was too late. For the game they hit 14 of 60 field goal attempts for a cool 23 per cent. At the foul line they connected on 16 of 27.

The Deers pulled down 32 rebounds while their opponents grabbed 33 off the boards.

Bishop Flaget used a zone defense, while the Deers utilized a man-to-man press in an attempt to get the lead in the ball game.

"WE GOT THE shots inside", Chester said after the tilt, "but it was just one of those nights. The boys were even missing the easy bunny shots."

The reserve tilt went the same way as the varsity game with Newsome scoring 27 points as the Bishop Flaget jayvee unit downed the visitors, 57-33.

Thursday the Deers play at Ohio Deaf and Saturday travel to Teays Valley for a game that promises to be of top interest to local fans. Larry Beard, Williamsport's 6-4 pivot man, played for Teays Valley last year.

The Vikings currently own a 12-game winning streak.

Tiger Rally Falls Short, Miami Trace 71-65 Victor

By DAVID AMEY

The Circleville High School cagers — 1-13 overall and 1-7 in league play — journeyed to Miami Trace Saturday night and were whipped by the Panthers, 71-65, in a tilt which could have gone either way.

The Tigers were the victims of their own overagerness. They outshot MT from the floor, 28-22, but lost the game at the charity stripe.

The Miami Tracers committed 13 fouls and the Tigers capitalized for nine points — a respectable number. But CHS was charged with 29 fouls and the Panthers cashed in on 27 for 37 for 71 per cent.

The Tigers started Chet Iery and John Thomas at the forward slots, Bob Purcell and Ronnie Seward at the guard positions and Tom Smith at center.

THE PANTHERS starters included Mike Doyle and Pirley Harris as guards, Bob Smith and Don Huffman at forward and David McKee under the basket.

CHS got off to a slow start, hitting only 5 of 19 attempts in the first quarter to 8 of 16 for the Panthers. The score at the start of the second period was 19-12 in favor of MT.

In the second period, the Tigers canned 8 of 20 shots while Miami Trace managed 8 of 21. At intermission MT had headed the local charges by 10, 39-29.

During the first half, the Tigers managed a cool 33 per cent from the field. Thomas was high man at the half with eight points on four field goals.

Statistics on the Panthers for the first half were impressive. They hit 43 per cent from the field in the first two periods.

David McKee paced the Panther scoring attack in the initial half. The big center connected on five field goals and seven free throws for 17 points.

Pearl Harris also had a good first half. The sharpshooting guard scorched the nets for 12 points.

CIRCLEVILLE entered the third period as a completely different squad. This also proved to be true for the Panthers.

With 2:45 remaining in the period, sub Jim Conly hit the first and only Panther field goal for the third canto. The Miami Tracers tried 17 shots during this quarter.

Circleville tied the tilt at 45-45 with 0:50 left to play as John Maxwell used his deadly eye to sink two free throws. Then, just as the period was coming to a close, Ronnie Seward, playing a terrific floor game, stole the ball and added a lay-up to put the Tigers ahead 47-45 for the first and only time in the game. CHS canned seven of 13 shots in that eight minutes of play.

Miami Trace started the last canto with a basket by Dan Huffman that tied the tilt at 47 all. Harris swiped the ball and scored a layup, and three charity tosses were marked up before the Tigers could manage a score.

Again it was Ronnie Seward who grabbed the ball and scored on a jump shot from the key. His tally came with 5:56 remaining and left the Tigers down by three, 52-49.

Harris scored on a patented jump shot for MT and Doug Roth carded two charity tosses for the Tigers to keep the scoring balanced. Huffman was fouled and hit on the one-and-one bonus for two points to leave the Tigers down by five, 56-51.

RON SEWARD added another jumper with 4:06 left and John Thomas scored a tip-in later in the canto to draw the Tigers within one point, 58-57. But then the Panthers started a route. Huffman and Smith recorded field goals which left the Tigers down by five, 62-57.

Tom Tootle entered the game for the first time for the Tigers and swished the nets with a 30-foot jumper from the corner with 3:02 left. The dead-eye forward added another two points seconds later from the same spot. But the Panther's McKee scored on two free throws to widen the gap once again.

With the score 64-59 and 1:22 left, Thomas hit a jumper but it was too late to stop the Panthers. They ended the game by cashing in on seven foul shots while the Tigers managed two field goals.

John Thomas paced the Tiger scoring attack. The junior jumper swished 10 field goals and a free throw for 21 markers.

Ronnie Seward perhaps played his best game for the Tigers. He sported an excellent floor game and ripped the nets for seven field goals and a free throw for 15 points.

John Maxwell, playing in the last three quarters, scored eight points on three from the field and two foul shots.

Tom Smith added six points. Roth canned five markers. Tootle and Purcell notched four and Chet Iery added two.

HARRIS and David McKee tied Thomas for high game honors. Harris carded eight field goals and five free throws for 21 points and McKee sank five field goals and 11 charity tosses for 21.

Huffman reared 14 points for MT. Smith added nine, Doyle carded four and Conley hit a field goal.

For the tilt, CHS managed a better shot percentage than did Trace. The Tigers scored on 23 of 60 for 46 per cent from the floor. The Panthers hit 22 of 59 for 31 per cent.

Former Ohio Trotter Cops Paris Test

PARIS (AP)—American-bred Nike Hanover was the Cinderella star of Europe today after coming off with the $100,000 Grand Prix d'Amerique-Europe's richest test for harness racers.

The 81-1 long shot came home Saturday in the international classic with a swift time of 3:25.1 for the 1 1/4 miles. Nisos II was second and Noriant D was third.

The victory earned Nike Hanover and German driver Hans Fromming an invitation to next July's United Nations Trot at the Yonkers Raceway.

Nike Hanover had an undistinguished career in the United States before being sold in 1962 to Italian sportsman Lamberto Bergama of Bologna. The horse had been owned by Don Millar of Columbus, Ohio, vice president of the U. S. Trotting Association.

Nike Hanover whipped not only the best trotters in Europe but three American stars—Porterhouse, Elaine Rodney and Duke Rodney.

Dick Groat, St. Louis Cardinal shortstop, lashed out 43 doubles during the 1963 baseball season.

Birdie Thinks '64 Tribe is OK

By BIRDIE TEBBETTS
Manager, Cleveland Indians
BRADENTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—I believe the Cleveland Indians have rounded the corner in their quest for a contending position in the American League pennant race.

Last year's Indians finished in a tie for fifth place, which means we must have had some problems. However, before discussing 1964 and how we are prepared to face our problems, I would like to point out some of our 1963 mishaps.

Shortstop Dick Howser suffered a serious leg injury in June, and was virtually useless for the rest of the season. Our center fielder, Vic Davalillo, had his forearm broken on June 12 and missed eight weeks. Catcher John Romano fractured his hand in May and was out for several weeks. Woodie Held sustained a fractured finger and was on the bench for three weeks.

These were our more serious injuries and we had several less ones. While every club has some injuries in the course of a season, I believe we had far more than our share.

Bearcats Win SVC With 4-0 Loop Record

Paint Valley won its fourth and final Scioto Valley Conference game Saturday, defeating host Laurelville 78-70 to capture the loop title from defending champion Logan Elm.

Harold Stevens paced the winning Bearcats with a 26-point output on eight field goals and 10 charity tosses. Mike Everhart tallied 18 points, Garold Stevens 15 and Don Crooks 12.

For Laurelville, John Young hit 10 field goals and three charity tosses for 23 points. Ken Disbennett tallied 22.

The Paint Valley quintet led 20-13 at the end of the first quarter, but the score was knotted 33-33 at halftime.

Going into the final period, the Bearcats led 55-47. The Paint Valley reserves won the preliminary game, 39-38.

The New York Mets batted .219 as a team last season. It was the low figure in the National League. Houston hit one point higher.

Penn State will play four home football games next fall and its home opener on Sept. 19 will be against Roger Staubach and Navy.

In addition, Dick Donovan, a 20-game winner in 1962, had a sub-standard year as did Tito Francona, who batted 50 points under his lifetime average.

I feel confident that Fred Whitfield, Larry Brown and Max Alvis of our infield and Vic Davalillo of the outfield, all first year men for us in 1963, will continue to improve in 1964.

Joe Azcue, who enjoyed a great season for us, together with Romano, gives us fine depth in the catching department. A healthy Howser, plus Davalillo, improves our team speed considerably.

Our club has good over-all power. Leon Wagner, Held, Alvis, Whitfield, Romano, Azcue, Al Luplow and Al Smith can break up a ball game with one long blow. Held, a player's player, will make every position competitive because he'll find a position to play and he can play them all well.

None of our infielders can ease up knowing that a versatile performer like Jerry Kindall is sitting on the bench. Bob Chance, the Eastern League's Most Valuable Player last season, showed me that he can hit major league pitching in his brief spell with us last September.

Our reports on another rookie, Ruthford (Chico) Salmon, who led the Pacific Coast League in hitting, are outstanding and young Tommie Agee has unlimited potential.

We should start the 1964 season with practically the same pitching staff which broke the American League record by striking out 1,018 batters last year. It is versatile, deep and talented.

Donovan, Jim Grant, Jack Kralick, Pete Ramos, Gary Bell, Jerry Walker and Don McMahon are seasoned veterans and they are joined by youngsters such as Tommy John, Sam McDowell, and Gordon Seyfried. Sonny Siebert and Floyd Weaver are two others who have impressed me.

Last year, we were fortunate in having two top rookies in Alvis and Davalillo develop into top-notch major leaguers. This year it may be John, Chance, Salmon or Agee. We must try to improve our defense and be ready to handle left-handed pitching. It takes talent and patience to develop a winner and we think we have both.

If you are a victim of these symptoms then your troubles may be traced to Glandular Inflammation. Glandular Inflammation is a constitutional disease and medicines that give temporary relief will not remove the causes of your troubles. Neglect of Glandular Inflammation often leads to premature senility, and incurable conditions.

The past year men from 1,000 communities have been successfully treated. They have found soothing relief and improved health.

RECTAL-COLON
is often associated with Glandular Inflammation.

Reducible Hernia is amenable to a mild Non-Surgical treatment.

WEATHER SIGN

An icicle is one sign that real winter cold has arrived. Another is when you notice it takes more heat to keep you comfortable inside the house.

To provide this extra warmth your gas furnace works longer and harder. During the winter months, and especially during severe cold, you will be using more natural gas to heat your home. Your gas bill will be higher.

But, no matter how cold the weather, you can be assured of the best heat with gas heat. And as gas customers in Ohio your gas rates are among the lowest in the nation.

Annual Report Submitted

Water Improvement Project, Sewage Needs Are Outlined

Completion of a major waterworks improvement program and the launching of plans for a proposed new sewage treatment plant represented key projects in 1963 for Circleville's Department of Water and Sewage.

The division of water's elevated storage tank went into service on June 27 and the new iron removal plant on Aug. 5. Other phases of the $623,192.69 project included erection of water main extensions, a new well at the new plant site and foundation work for the elevated tank.

Preliminary steps in acquiring land and easements for construction of the new sewage plant have already been initiated. A tract known as the Marfield farm, south of the city and west of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, has been determined the logical site for the new treatment facility.

Engineers currently are preparing legal descriptions of the Marfield land which is entailed by a will probated a number of years ago. This data will be incorporated into initial legislation needed to acquire the land.

A SUMMARY of yearly operations has been submitted to City Council by Ervin F. Leist, public utilities manager. It constituted the 18th annual financial report for the division of water and the 25th annual report on the division of sewage treatment.

The report showed an operating revenue balance of $105,784 in the division of water and a

Ashville Wins Junior High Tournament

Lombardo Voted Most Valuable Player, Is Awarded Trophy

Ashville walked away with the Pickaway County Junior High crown Saturday night, defeating Jackson, 52-18, in the finals of the tournament.

The Ashville team was also the winner in league play, posting a perfect season.

Mike Lombardo of Ashville was voted the most valuable player in the tourney. He was awarded the John McPherson trophy.

In Saturday's finale, Lombardo scored 10 points. Chester Gloyd and Bruce Roesse scored 12 each to pace the winners.

HIGH for Jackson was Charles Ward with five points.

The little Broncos led 11-0 at the end of the first period and were on top 25-5 at halftime. By the beginning of the final period they had built a 43-13 margin.

In the consolation game, played before the final tilt, Schumacher tallied 16 points to pace Scioto to a 35-31 decision over Saltcreek.

Clifton scored 14 points for the losers — eight of them in the third period. Saltcreek trailed all the way in the game.

The losers were down 10 points, 14-4, after the first period. At halftime the winners were on top, 22-14.

By the beginning of the final period the Warriors pulled within two points, but could get no closer.

SALT CREEK and Scioto tied for second place in League play.

Gene Carfrey of Darby was awarded the foul shooting trophy.

Bridge Crash Injures Two

A driver and a passenger were injured 3:38 p. m. Saturday when their car slammed into a bridge abutment that crosses Hargus Creek at Island Road.

The driver, Russell Allison, 31, Route 3, suffered head lacerations and a deep cut over the right eye. A passenger, Alfred Carle, 36, Cuyahoga Falls, received a finger laceration.

Both men were taken to Berger Hospital.

Allison told Patrolmen Dixie Waters and Homer Adams he didn't know what happened. The car, headed north on Island Road, struck the right side of the bridge.

Officers said the auto was demolished. The accident is still under investigation.

Leist said without a doubt such emergency measures would have been required here if his department had been operating under the old supply system.

Hard Political Facts Now Face John Glenn after His Launching

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Staff Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Col. John H. Glenn Jr. is learning that in one way politics and astronauting are much alike.

In both businesses it is easier to blast off braethtakingly than it is to go into successful orbit and then return to earth triumphantly.

Monroe Unit Defeated by Plains, 66-47

The Monroe Indians suffered their 14th defeat of the season Saturday, losing 66-47 to host school The Plains of Mt. Sterling.

The Indians opened the season with a pair of wins — 71-64 against Buckskin and 50-43 against the Ohio Deaf quintet.

Friday they will try to chalk another win when they travel to Ohio Deaf for a return engagement.

The hapless Indians couldn't get started Saturday until it was too late. They hit a cool 13 per cent of their field goal attempts during the first half.

THE WINNERS led 14-7 at the end of the first period and 29-14 at halftime. Monroe had hit only four field goals in the first 16 minutes of play.

In the third quarter they hiked their scoring rate a little and trailed 48-29 as the final period began. At one point in the fourth period they pulled within six points of the Mt. Sterling quintet.

However, the pressing Indians began to commit too many fouls at this point and the winners widened the final margin to 19 points.

Dick Everman's Indians finished the game hitting 26 per cent of their field goals. At the foul line they tallied 23 of 36 tries for a 64 per cent average.

Tom Seeley was the leading scorer, hitting nine field goals and nine charity tosses for a 27-point total. Bob Sparks hit only one field goal but canned 12 foul shots to score 14 for the Indians.

The winners attack was paced by Dano Starr with 25 and Boone Hall with 15.

The host school also won the preliminary game, 42-24.

But Glenn has been launched, with appropriate fanfare. And his yearning to be a senator makes the May 5 Ohio primary a political spectacular.

Look at this all-star lineup: For the Democrats—Glenn, world-renowned astronaut and first American to circle the globe, vs. Sen. Stephen A. Young, still saucy and confident at 74.

For the Republicans — Rep. Robert Taft Jr., son of the late, highly respected senator and grandson of a president, vs. Ted W. Brown, a secretary of state so popular he wins even during a Democratic sweep.

Give Glenn full credit. He didn't pick on a pushover.

Glenn is busy parting from the Marine Corps. Until he is a civilian, about March 1, his comments all look like this: "I'm pleased with everything so far."

But even in this cocoon stage, these harsh facts of political life are emerging:

—Some editorial writers and cartoonists who praised his daring as an astronaut deride his daring to run for the Senate.

—Sen. Young, wasting no time, has in effect accused Glenn of rattling out on the space program after taxpayers poured millions into training him.

—Glenn's experience and knowledge are valuable to our future efforts in the space race," Young says. And then he slips in this: "He hasn't lived in Ohio in 21 years."

—State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman says bravely: "I feel very good about all this. We have more enthusiasm than we've ever had before."

But the Democrats are badly split.

One group remains loyal to Young. The other, led by Rep. Wayne Hays, insists the party—and President Johnson—need a glamorous name like Glenn's to carry Ohio in November. No Democratic presidential candidate has carried Ohio since Harry S. Truman pulled his surprise in 1948.

There's no doubting Glenn's appeal.

This nation has scored numerous successes in outer space, but none has caught our nations fancy—and stuck so pleasurably in our minds—as Glenn's three whirls around the world on Feb. 20, 1962.

He is the hero of heroes. Crowds surround him constantly. His autograph is demanded unceasingly. Other candidates may humbly or craftily plead for support. Glenn has barely been able to acknowledge the support thrust upon him.

No one knows exactly where Glenn stands on any important issue facing the nation today. Yet both parties scrambled eagerly for his services.

Republicans sounded him out on running for Congress from his own mid-Ohio district, or for congressman-at-large. A group of Democrats bid higher, with the Senate as bait.

He hasn't said what all went into his final decision, but he pointed out his parents are both Democrats and in general he agrees with President Johnson's program.

Since you'll be hearing a lot about this primary during the next three months, let's take a closer look at the members of the cast:

Glenn—What can you say that's new about the colonel? 42 years old. Father of two. Has a grin that starts hesitantly, and then broadens quickly, much as John F. Kennedy's used to. Curls the tip of his tongue over his upper lip when concentrating.

Real star of this political show could be his wife, Annie. Bright, merry-eyed, friendly. Has an endless supply of the trivia that makes each visitor feel he's something extra special: "You don't say. How old are they?" "Well, it's a small world, isn't it?"

Sen. Young—5 feet 8, a 115-pounder. He will stress how faithful he's been to party and President—and come out fighting.

Recalls his start as a precinct worker for the 2nd Ward Democratic Club in Cleveland—"I met upstairs over Gottlieb Finkbeiner's saloon"—and adds mischievously: "It must be nice to begin at the top." Began his political career by getting elected to Ohio Legislature—in 1912.

Likes to be considered so independent he will even cuss out voters.

Robert Taft Jr.—It must be easier to run against motherhood than against a Taft in Ohio. Father was Mr. Republican, his grandfather the United States, his great-grandfather a cabinet officer and diplomat.

46 years old. Father of four. Has an easy laugh. Voice is free of the nasal twang that was his father's trademark.

"I have a feeling that Glenn's candidacy helps me," he says pleasantly. His theory: Republicans, seeing this threat from outer space, will rally behind him.

Believes Glenn is in for real trouble when he starts talking. Ted W. Brown—58. Father of three daughters. Has been everything from a lamplighter to a professional football player—with the Springfield, Ohio, Bulldogs—to a heating and ventilating expert.

A real sleeper who could spring a shocker. As secretary of state he has his finger in every county courthouse pie. "I can reach people the others won't be able to reach and they're the ones who go to the polls and vote."
